

GOLTRA BARGE HEARING BEGINS IN FEDERAL COURT

Politician Seeks to Restrain Government From Assuming Control of $3,000,000 Gift.

LETTERS AND CONTRACTS SHOWN

Lawyers Testify Former Federal Attorney Said He Was Promised Counselship for Seizure.

Correspondence, bearing upon the story of the "Goltra barge," was read at the hearing today, before Federal Judge Farris, on the application of Edward F. Goltra, St. Louis iron manufacturer and former Democratic national committeeman, for a temporary injunction restraining the Government from interfering with Goltra's control of Government towboats and barges, under his contracts with the Government.

As has been told in the Post-Dispatch, the politician, who obtained, for nothing, a fleet which cost the Government $3,000,000, refuses to use them or let the Government use them, but has offered to sell them back to the Government for $2,000,000.

Contract in Evidence. The contract, dated May 28, 1919, made by Secretary of War Baker, turning over the equipment to Goltra, with a view to its operation by him, was introduced. It was this contract which Goltra was alleged to have violated by non-performance when, in March, 1923, Secretary of War Weeks ordered him to turn back the equipment to Brigadier-General Ashburn. Goltra refused, and the fleet was in process of being seized, when the Government was restrained by an order issued by Judge Farris.

Counsel for Goltra also introduced a supplemental contract made by Secretary Baker on his last day in office, authorizing Goltra to operate on the lower river at the same freight rates as the Mississippi-Warrior service, operated by the Government.

The correspondence read was between Goltra, army officers in charge of inland waterways, and Secretary of War Weeks, relating to the conditions governing Goltra's operation of the fleet.

Goltra, on March 3, 1921, wrote to Gen. Beach, asking him to quote a tariff and stating that any up-river cities were building terminals for the service. He suggested the same rate as was in effect for the Mississippi-Warrior service on the lower river, 80 percent of the railroad rate. He received a reply from Brigadier-General Taylor, stating that the engineer's office had recommended that rate and, later, a letter from Gen. Beach, stating that the rate had been approved and authorized him to establish it.

Weeks Vetoes Low Rate. But, under date of March 21, 1922, Secretary Weeks wrote to Goltra, saying that his attention had been called to a statement Goltra had given to the Post-Dispatch, announcing a rate of 50 percent, and reminding Goltra that he had told him he could not authorize a rate that would place his fleet in competition with that of the Government's Mississippi-Warrior service. He declared that Goltra's contract called for rates equal to the rail rates, and that he could not approve any other schedule.

This was followed by a letter, dated April 18, 1922, authorizing Goltra to charge 80 percent on sand, gravel, liquids in bulk, lumber, salt, sulphur and grain, between St. Louis and St. Paul, only, but holding him to the railroad rate on everything else.

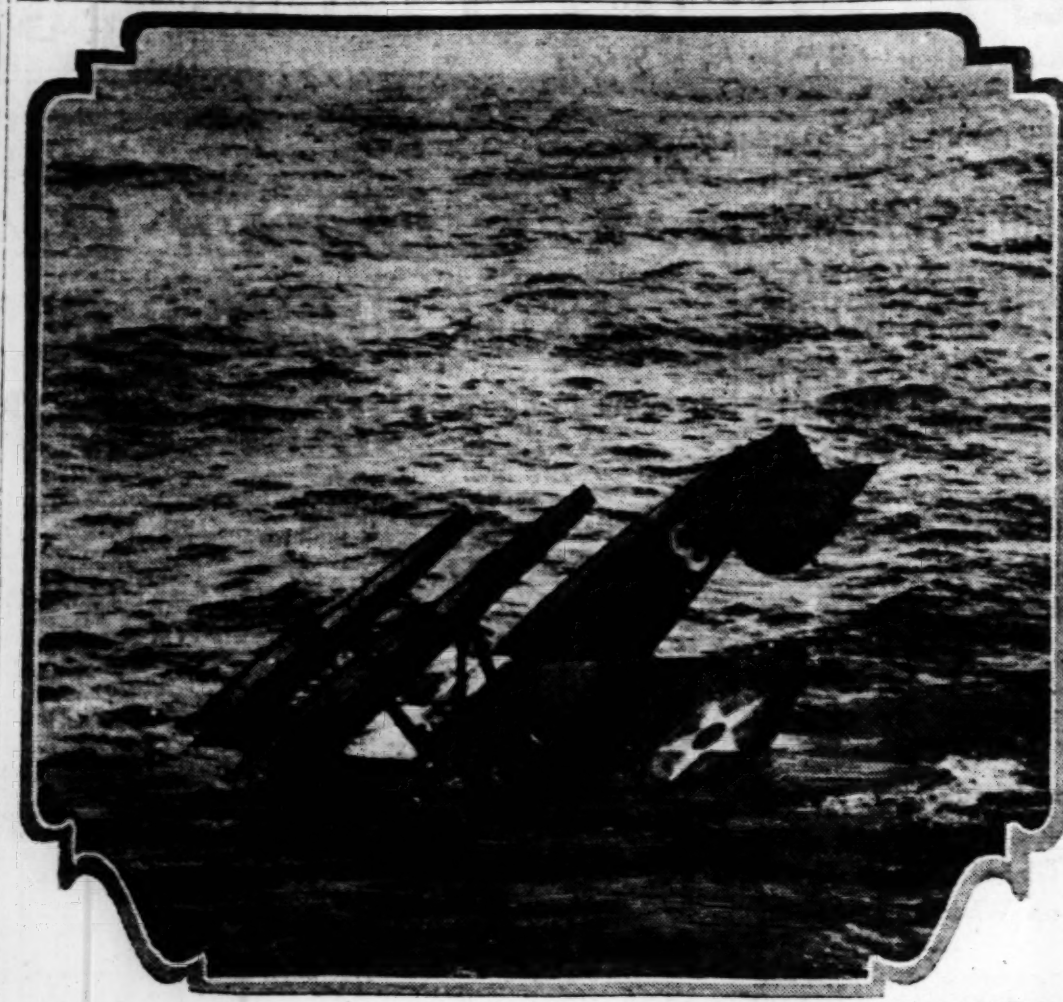

In March, 1923, Goltra was notified by letter to turn over the fleet because of violation of his contract by non-performance.

Joseph T. Davis, counsel, with Douglas W. Robert, for Goltra, testified as to conversations he held with United States District Attorney James E. Carroll, relative to the Goltra fleet. One of these conversations, early in March, 1923, followed receipt of notification by Goltra from Weeks that his contract with the Government was terminated, and requesting him to turn over the barges and towboats.

Could "Take Care of Matter." Carroll, according to Davis, said that he believed, although in no position to speak officially, that arrangements could be made amicably to "take care of the matter," adding his opinion that the War Department would be justified in seizing the barges. Later, Davis testified at another conference at Carroll's request, in Carroll's office in the Federal Building. Carroll said he was not going into the matter officially, as his term as District Attorney had expired and he was waiting to be relieved, but that he had no objection in effecting arrangements to be employed privately by "these people."

In this connection, Davis said

End of U. S. Plane "Boston" in Round-World Flight

—International Photo.

HERE is shown the actual sinking of the world flight plane "Boston" after the plane had crashed into the sea about fifty miles off the Faroe Islands. Lieut. Leigh Wade, the pilot, and his mechanic Sergt. Ogden, were adrift for four hours before being rescued. The wrecked plane was picked up in tow by the U. S. S. Richmond, but the plane broke loose from the towline and capsized, thus becoming a total loss. The photograph shows it lying upside down in the sea just before it sank. Lieut. Wade and his mechanic rejoined the flyers when they arrived at Pictou, Nova Scotia, yesterday and will accompany them on the flight to Boston and the remainder of the journey back to their starting point in a new plane which the army has provided.

Carroll seldom referred to the Government, the War Department or Secretary Weeks directly, but talked, instead, of "these people." Quoting further, Davis testified that he had been given to understand that, if he delivered the Goltra fleet into the hands of "these people," he would be retained privately as counsel for the Mississippi-Warrior service after he was relieved of the District Attorneyship.

Carroll also was reported as saying it was the intention of "these people," within two years, to again turn over the towboats and barges to private parties for operation.

Attorney Robert took the witness stand and told of similar conversations.

Carroll Bears Testimony. Carroll, who is a nominal defendant in the present suit, and is associated with Lon O. Hooker, as counsel for the Government, was in court during the testimony of Davis and Robert.

Other witnesses for Goltra included past and present employees, some of whom, since the seizure of the Goltra fleet, March 25, 1923, have been in the Mississippi-Warrior service, testifying as to what occurred when the fleet was seized at the foot of Potomac street, they said the "invasion" was an armed one, two large holdsters under the hands of Gen. Ashburn being visible. Furthermore, they said that, when the fleet had been taken in charge by the Steamer Vicksburg, and towed nine miles down the river and anchored against the Illinois shore, a member of the Vicksburg crew, either for target practice or to intimidate, shot at a mark on shore.

WORLD FLIES PAUSE TO REPAIR PLANE DAMAGE

glided to a gentle landing. His pontoons traced two narrow ribbons of white across the water, and a minute later Nelson followed him to the surface of the harbor.

Like some giant sea hawk, the Canadian flying boat took off at 3 o'clock to scan the waters northward for the expected airmen. Wireless messages to the destroyer Barry gave the time the Americans hopped off from Hawkes Bay, and careful computations indicated they would arrive at Pictou by 3:30 or 4 o'clock.

Out over Pictou Island with its one road and 15 houses and on toward the most eastern point of Prince Edward Island the Canadian ship flew. Four pairs of eyes swept the horizon from port to starboard wing and behind with unceasing vigilance. Back and forth she cruised and still the Americans did not come.

Crowded Wharves. A ragged blanket of clouds drifted along at 1000 feet and after an hour a suspicion that the globe girdlers might have come in above this and under a mackerel layer 5000 feet further up, sent the big flying boat in frantic haste back to Pictou.

The Boston II. brought here for Lieut. Leigh Wade, riding alone at the bows, reassured the Canadian crew and she turned northward once more, but not until her bulky hull had crushed the hopes of 3000 Pictouians who mistook her roaring motor for those of the Americans.

Twice more she repeated this performance, fearing each time the world flyers had escaped the watchful eyes aboard her, and twice more the waiting crowd had its hopes dashed to earth. At last the flying boat crew concluded some mishap must have befallen

BOSTON-NEW YORK HOP, 183 MILES BY PLANE, MADE IN 58 MINUTES

BOSTON, Sept. 4.

Lieut. R. C. Moffatt, in a Curtiss pursuit type plane, such as Lieut. Maughan used in his down-to-dusk flight across the country, yesterday flew from Boston to New York an air distance of 183 miles, in 58 minutes, to deliver official pictures of the world flight brought here by the destroyer Lawrence. He paused at Mitchell Field seven minutes for the business that took him there, then rose again on the return.

the globe girdling airmen, and landed to get news.

The crowd was thicker than ever on the docks and bluffs fronting the harbor and Maj. Tidmore took this as a sign the flyers were still expected. He took off at once and had scarcely regained his original "farthest north" when the two Douglas cruisers hove into view. This was the 24 minutes before the arrival in Pictou.

"Another leg finished, thank God," Lieut. Arnold, Smith's mechanic, exclaimed as he wiped his hands on a piece of waste, and stepped into a tender, which took the flyers aboard the Barry on their way to the reception Pictou had planned for them.

Glad to See a Train. "It's great to be this much nearer home," Lieut. Jack Harding, Nelson's mechanic, was elated over the first signs of civilization he has seen in weeks.

"It's great to see a train again," he said. "I've almost forgotten what one looks like."

Lieut. Nelson, "The Old Swede," contented himself with petting a setter someone had brought aboard the Barry, and was customarily quiet about the flight.

"It was cloudy most of the way," he said, "but mostly smooth flying. We found no fog, the wind cleared that out of the Gulf before we got started."

Lieut. Smith said head winds were encountered over most of the route, but added the visibility was good. Because of low clouds the flyers flew practically all the way at 500 feet. Lieut. Smith said he did not know definitely whether the flyers would stop for refueling at St. John, N. B., but thought it likely they would fuel up here for another non-stop flight to Boston.

A touch of comedy was added to the arrival here by Lieut. McDonald and Bertrandias, who brought the Boston II to Pictou to see the flyers, and his mechanic, Lieut. H. H. Ogden, may rejoin the world flight.

Floating Filling Station. As advance officers, they rigged up a barge with barrels of oil and gasoline, and a veritable floating fueling station de luxe, the most convenient probably that the aviators have encountered anywhere.

This afternoon they erected a big sign on it reading, "McDonald, Bertrandias, proprietors, United States air service gas station. Clerks on duty, Lieuts. Wade and Ogden."

"Proprietors" and "clerks" both were on the job when the Chicago and New Orleans arrived, and rendered expert assistance.

Pictou had its wish so far as the planned reception was concerned, the four airmen riding in a procession through the town and taking the seats of honor reserved for them in an open air platform adjacent to the Hotel Wallace. The population of Pictou was doubled today by the influx of automobiles and boats and everybody attended the official reception.

Mayor John MacEachern read an address of welcome, which later was presented in engraved form to each guest of honor, so there could be no doubt how far he wants them to go in making themselves at home in Pictou. A handsome bouquet also was given to each aviator.

Parade and Speeches. Harce J. Logan, M. P., welcomed the Americans on behalf of the Dominion Government and Minister of National Defense E. M. MacDonald. Other speeches were made by William Chisholm, Minister of Highways, in behalf of the provincial government, and Premier Armstrong, Maj. Welsford MacDonald, M. P.; Col. J. Stanley Scott, Chief of Air Service, and Major-General H. C. Thacker, head of the Highlanders; Maj. McDonald, second in command, and other officers followed. Pictou Academy and school cadets, in kilts like the Highlanders' band, were next in the column, followed by detachments of bluejackets from the Barry and the Canadian destroyer Patriot, in command, respectively, of Capt. Conant Taylor and Capt. Howard E. Reid.

A children's choir sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and other American songs, and ended up with Canadian and British selections. At their own request the American airmen were excused from speech-making.

The flyers were dinner guests on board the Barry, and afterward spent a short time at a dance arranged in their honor.

Major-General Patrick to Head Escorting Squadron to Meet Flyers. By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—With the world flyers only a few miles from home, preparations for their probable landing here Friday were completed yesterday. Major-General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service and the originator of the world flight idea, came by air from New York with other officers in 14 other planes. They will fly up the coast to escort the world airmen here.

Officials of the nation, the State and the city arranged a program welcome that will be as simple as possible, in keeping with the flyers' wishes. Alighting at the East Boston Airport, where the world flyers will make their landing after mooring their pontooned planes in the stream, the head of the air service took occasion to praise the spirit of Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and his fellow flyers in overcoming obstacles. The way they have done this thing, the manner in which they have obeyed orders to take no undue chances, although their inclination was to keep going, was especially commended by them. They have flown virtually around the world in less than 300 hours' actual flying time, he said, adding that with further provisions this entire journey can be accomplished with the present planes in 13 days.

S. GLENN YOUNG AND 12 KLANSMEN INDICTED BY U. S.

K. K. K. Liquor Raider and 9 Herrin Residents Are Charged With Impersonating Federal Officials.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 4.—Five indictments were returned today by the Federal grand jury here against S. Glenn Young, former Williamson County klan liquor-raider, charging impersonation of a Government officer during the klan clean-up of Williamson County last winter.

Nine Herrin klanmen were indicted on a similar charge. They are: Sam Childers, D. H. Cavanaugh, Leonard Barndt, Carl Nelson, Harry Walker, Robert Bandy, Abe Hicks, Earl Rendleman and Elmer Carlton.

Bench warrants have been issued and the ten men will be placed under arrest as quickly as they can be found by Deputy United States Marshals.

Killene Indicted for Extortion. Dr. H. F. Killene, said to be the former head of the K. K. K. in East St. Louis, was indicted for extortion, the charge being that he demanded and received $500 from Edward R. Chase, East St. Louis druggist, on his promise to stop Government prosecution for an alleged violation of the Volstead act.

Indictments also were returned against Harvey McCormick and A. T. Cummings, said to be East St. Louis klanmen, for an alleged attempt to extort money from Orla H. Cannady, East St. Louis druggist, on a threat to file information with the Government charging him with violation of the Volstead act.

The charges in the indictments against the East St. Louis men embrace a period of time last spring, when the St. Clair County Clean-up League, said to be a klan subsidiary, was conducting a private investigation of the liquor traffic in East St. Louis.

To Oppose Klan Bondsman. United States District Attorney W. O. Potter declared today he will oppose any attempt of Young and the Herrin men to furnish bonds signed by men at present on the bonds of Williamson County klanmen, now facing trial in the Williamson County court.

Information regarding the evidence on which the indictments are based was refused by Potter, who said Williamson County residents had made charges that Young and his followers posed as Government officers during much of their activities in that county, and Young's signed statement in his petition to have his Herrin City Court indictments transferred to the Federal Court, because he was acting under Federal authority.

Young's petition was denied in July by Judge Lindsley on the grounds that Young's only Government authority was on the nights of Dec. 22, 1922, and Jan. 5, 1923, when he was deputized by Federal prohibition agents, that authority only being good for 24 hours, while the charges made against him embraced other periods of time.

Trials Probably in November. Information received by the Post-Dispatch from a source in Atlanta, Ga., at liberty under $200,000 bonds, covering 31 indictments of 65 counts, returned against him last March by the Herrin City grand jury. Bonds to the amount of $45,000 have been declared forfeited in the Herrin City Court because of his failure to report for trial.

Trial of Young and his followers on the Federal indictments probably will be held during the November term of Federal Court in East St. Louis.

State Indictments Against Two Returned April 25.

State indictments, charging extortion by threat and carrying out of the same alleged "shake-down" attempts, were returned April 25 by a grand jury at Belleville against Cummings, Dr. Killene, who was then "reputed croup" of the Williamson klan, and McCormick, then a member of "kooklan," the Executive Committee of the East St. Louis chapter.

Coroner McCown said, while the jury was considering its verdict, that he had done nothing to influence the jury, and that he had given everyone an opportunity to testify. The coroner has been considering the case since the

Guard Chief Tells Herrin Leaders Where to Head In Twenty-Two-Year-Old Commander, Trying to Get 'Chip Off Everybody's Shoulder,' Meets With Success.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HERRIN, Ill., Sept. 4.—A new and youthful hand, but one which grips the situation firmly, has taken hold in strife-scarred Williamson County.

Capt. Harold M. Bigelow, 22 years old, Marine Corps overseas veteran, commander of the handful of picked militiamen left here, has undertaken, as he puts it, to "get the chip off everybody's shoulder." To do this, he yesterday began telling the leaders of both sides, in the fighting in which the klan was killed last Saturday, "where to head in." And the strange part is that they have "headed in" where he told them to.

Sheriff and Aid Obey Orders. He began, as was told yesterday, by ordering Sheriff George Galligan to abandon his idea of bringing a machine gun to the opening session of the "Court's" inquest here, yesterday morning. He also ordered Deputy Sheriff Ora Thomas, leader of the anti-klan fighters, not to attend the inquest, but to stay at Marion, the county seat. The result of these orders was that both Galligan and Thomas remained away from the inquest, and a possible occasion of renewed strife was avoided.

The next orders went to the local Ku Klux Klan leader. They had announced that klanmen in robes and hoods would march to and from the Methodist Church for the funeral of Charles Woolford, one of the three klanmen killed Saturday. When Bigelow heard of this announcement, he telephoned to several of the klan leaders.

"There will be no procession in regalia," he told them. "Your members may take their robes and hoods to the cemetery, if they wish, and put them on there for the ritual at the grave, but they must be taken off before you go outside the cemetery gate." And after some demurring that was just what was done.

Must Report to Military Head. Then Sheriff Galligan—the same Sheriff who was so insistent on having the militia remain here—got his second installment of orders. He had said that he was staying away from the inquest because the inquest did not mean anything, anyway—the grand jury investigation three weeks hence was what would really count. But, he added, he was going over to Herrin to get the Jack Skelcher automobile from the garage of John Smith, klan leader. This was the car that Galligan and other anti-klan men went to the garage to get, just before last Saturday's outbreak.

Learning of this utterance of the Sheriff, Bigelow called him up at Marion. "You are not to come to Herrin," he said, "without first calling me up, at the Elks' Club. And immediately on arriving in son, Dunning was one of those killed.

Freeman testified also that he saw Judge Bowen of the City Court pass the scene in an automobile with Miss Jane Laasater, stenographer of his court, and another man whom the witness did not see clearly. Witnesses yesterday said that State's Attorney Duff was in the car, and that Bowen and Duff were firing revolvers. Freeman said he did not see any shot fired from the car. Duff has said he was with Bowen and Miss Laasater.

Herrin, you are to report to me and I will furnish you a military escort."

Deputy Ora Thomas came to Herrin last night, "to get some clothes," as he explained. His presence caused excitement, particularly as he drove his car past the John Smith garage, where a number of klanmen were gathered. Bigelow saw him, and told him to go back to Marion, and he then telephoned to Galligan, to say that the orders, as to reporting at the Elks' Club, applied to Thomas also.

To Turn Over Skelcher Car. Then, to remove any remaining chance of trouble over the Skelcher car in Smith's garage, Capt. Bigelow went to the garage, and consulted Smith, who told him that the car would be turned over, without controversy, to anyone representing Galligan, but not to Galligan himself. "This garage isn't big enough to hold Galligan and me," Smith remarked.

Glad to Give Him the Car. Bigelow asked, naming a deputy who is on friendly terms with some of the klanmen.

"Glad to give him the car," Smith replied, and the Captain then sent word to Galligan that Walker should be sent to get the car and take it to Marion.

Next on the young Captain's program is an interview with the klan leaders, scheduled for this afternoon or evening, at which he intends to tell them that they must stop patrolling highways, in any part of the county, for any purpose. Bigelow considers it essential to restoring peace.

Capt. Bigelow, who was selected by Adjutant-General Black when that official decided Monday to leave only a Captain and 18 picked guardsmen here, is from Salem, where he is employed in the special agent service of the C. & E. I. Railroad. He attended Illinois College at Jacksonville, and has been in the National Guard since he was 14. He served on the Mexican border in 1916, and in 1917 he enlisted in the Marine Corps, with which he served at Belleau Wood and in San Domingo. He was wounded several times. He has taken part, as he figures it, in 14 battles and riots. He looks boyish, when one takes a profile view, but his ruddy and rounded face, in a direct view, gives the impression of maturity and firmness. He is married, and his wife is now in Herrin.

"Not Trying to Be a Caesar." "I'm not trying to be a Caesar," he said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent, "but I was left here to enforce the law, and I shall try also to bring about a better feeling and a sense of security. I shall ask to be kept here, with the men I now have, at least until the grand jury investigation, beginning Sept. 12, has gone past the point where there may be danger of further trouble."

Saw Dunning Fire a Shot. The first witness who has told of seeing any klanman fire a shot in Saturday's outbreak was Wes Freeman, who was called when the first quest was resumed this morning.

Freeman, a truck driver, testified he saw Green Dunning, a klanman, fire a shot from a grape arbor across the street from John Smith's garage, and that he believed it was Dunning's shot that killed Deputy Sheriff "Bud" Allison.

Freeman testified that he saw John Smith, klan leader, fire a shot from a grape arbor across the street from John Smith's garage, and that he believed it was Dunning's shot that killed Deputy Sheriff "Bud" Allison.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—Shattering the American speed record of 190 miles an hour made yesterday by Lieut. Ralph A. Ostrife, U. S. N., over the Delaware River course, Lieut. George Cuddihy today drove his plane 197.6 miles an hour in further testimony to the navy's defense of the Schneider international trophy at Baltimore next month.

Hurricanes Killed 86 Persons. By the Associated Press.

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Sept. 4.—Six persons were killed and 86 injured by hurricanes in the neighborhood of small British islands during the hurricane last Thursday, according to a resume of reports from the various islands today.

But that the car was not several blocks of the shooting. "I saw the Sheriff's bunch down the street to the garage," Freeman testified. "Galligan had a gun, and I took Ora Thomas have one."

"Charlie Denham and two came along in an automobile, and they were firing shots. A lot of people were shooting."

Denham, a klanman, testified yesterday that he and the others were not shot, although the others were armed, and that "Galligan and his men did all the shooting."

The witness said he saw a man in the Denham car fall, wounded, and that he also saw Dunning, who was shot, and that he saw a man named Allison, who was shot, and that he saw a man named Green, who was shot.

Freeman's testimony, on the whole, was favorable to the klan side, though his statement to seeing Judge Bowen's car, not accord with the anti-klan version of the matter.

J. T. Black, hospital superintendent, but said the physician was not there when the Sheriff and his men appeared, demanding the Skelcher car. He said he saw Harry Herrin and others drive up and saw the Sheriff's bunch arm them. Another car came along, and the Sheriff's party went out again with shouts of "whereupon the witness said of the witness, gave similar testimony, and said that he saw Sheriff's men in possession of 12 revolvers, rifles and shotguns, which they had taken from men in automobiles."

Miner Saw Men Disarmed. John Hiller, a miner, said he went to the Smith garage, to Smith about trading a car, and saw the Sheriff and his men appear, demanding the Skelcher car. He said he saw Harry Herrin and others drive up and saw the Sheriff's bunch arm them. Another car came along, and the Sheriff's party went out again with shouts of "whereupon the witness said of the witness, gave similar testimony, and said that he saw Sheriff's men in possession of 12 revolvers, rifles and shotguns, which they had taken from men in automobiles."

Man Left in Charge of the Bank. The man who was left in charge of the bank, after the robbery, was a man named E. H. Brucker, and Robert Kunz, assistant cashier, and Miss Florence and Hilda Kunz, clerks, and took the money from the machine to East Carondelet, where they abandoned it and boarded a gasoline launch, moored there, and headed up stream.

The man had been left in charge of the bank, after the robbery, and the others came running from the car, carrying two automatic shotguns and revolvers, and for the ears of fishermen nearby they were talking of a "good looking bunch of ducks," which they were talking is not the duck story.

The Springfield Robbery. The Springfield bank was entered at 1 p. m. The robbers drove eight employees and two customers into the vault. Vice President Warren did not move bravely enough and was struck on the head with a revolver. The vault was closed, but not locked. The robbers scooped into sacks all the money on hand, about $25,000, and ran. One of the robbers was seen running toward Columbia. A warning was telegraphed to the bank. When a little later, an automobile stopped in front of the bank and strange men sought to enter, they found the doors locked and went away.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—That Illinois has eight times as many bank robberies as New York and Pennsylvania put together, and that it has a state police force, is declared in a pamphlet mailed today by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. The State is continuing a campaign for establishment of a state police force in Illinois.

"The figures on bank robberies," says the pamphlet, "are especially timely, since mother with a baby in her arms recently held up one klanman bank, and Madison County bankers have had to organize to protect themselves, while at the same time the banks of Millstadt have locked their doors and stationed armed guards and are not admitting even their own depositors except upon strict identification."

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce also has begun a referendum on its membership on the proposition of distribution of public funds and collection of interest on public bonds. The purpose of the referendum, said the announcement, "is to determine whether the Illinois member shall recommend to the next general Assembly the passage of laws requiring that county treasurers and other bankers who conduct money shall make distribution every 30 days and that all public money shall keep all public money deposited at interest." The vote is to be counted Oct. 10.

GANGSTERS HERE SOUGHT IN TWO BANK ROBBERIES

Institutions at Springfield and Columbia, Ill., Looted of More Than $37,000 Yesterday.

$142,000 OBTAINED IN 8 RECENT HOLDUPS

All Believed to Have Been Committed by Gang Having Its Headquarters in St. Louis.

Police of St. Louis and Illinois cities are searching for St. Louis gangsters who are believed to have robbed the Jefferson State Bank at Springfield, Ill., of $25,000, and the First National Bank of Columbia, Ill., of $12,500 yesterday. These were the seventh and eighth successful bank robberies in Southern Illinois in the past few weeks, netting the robbers more than $142,000. The belief that all of the robberies have been committed by a gang with headquarters in St. Louis, based on indications that the robbers, after each job, have made their way to St. Louis, was made more definite when it was learned that a St. Louis gangster, whose name is known to the police, had sent a message from Springfield to his home here in reference to the Springfield robbery.

Six Men in Columbia Holdup. There were six men in the robbery at Columbia, which was 15 miles southeast of St. Louis, and four at Springfield. The Columbia robbers drove to the bank in the Marmon car stolen Aug. 23 in East St. Louis from Stephen Knowler. They entered the bank at 11:30 a. m. with drawn weapons, and held up E. H. Brucker and Robert Kunz, assistant cashier, and Miss Florence and Hilda Kunz, clerks, and took the money from the machine to East Carondelet, where they abandoned it and boarded a gasoline launch, moored there, and headed up stream.

The man had been left in charge of the bank, after the robbery, and the others came running from the car, carrying two automatic shotguns and revolvers, and for the ears of fishermen nearby they were talking of a "good looking bunch of ducks," which they were talking is not the duck story.

LOCATELLI TELLS THRILLING STORY OF FLIGHT'S END

"To See Plane Floating Off
a Mass of Flames, Great Sorrow," Declares Italian
Airman.

The Italian aviator, Lieut. Antonio Locatelli, whose attempt to fly from Italy to New York ended in disaster off Greenland, has written for the New York World and the Post-Dispatch the dramatic story of the end of his air journey. Locatelli landed in Boston Tuesday from the United States destroyer Lawrence, which had brought him from the Polar seas, where he was rescued by the cruiser Richmond.

By LIEUT. ANTONIO LOCATELLI, BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 4.—To see my plane floating off a mass of flames into the night, then explode with a great flare and as suddenly disappear into the black Polar sea—that was a sorrow to me. But I have hope in my star and am ready to try another ocean flight. Our intended flight from Italy to New York was the inspiration of a moment. All Spring we had been preparing to take Amundsen to the North Pole by air. The plane fell through and I am convinced now they were fantastic. No airplane can carry gasoline enough for the trip from Spitzbergen to Alaska. Send a supply ship 200 miles north of Spitzbergen and a reconnaissance over the Pole might be possible. But once land on ice and you are forever lost.

Amundsen abandoned the attempt and we determined to try flying across the ocean like a ship would, with our spare parts on board and no fixed base. I still think it possible. Certainly, we were unfortunate beyond normal expectation.

Fine Hop-Off in Iceland.
Our 75-foot aluminum plane was equipped with Rolls Royce motors, which took us from Italy to Iceland with superb speed and faithfulness. At Reykjavik, Iceland, the United States Navy offered to convey us with the American planes and I was glad to accept.

I wish I might have had more time at Reykjavik to reconition the plane and learn about Greenland flying. But the Americans were ready for flight the next morning and so we worked most of the night tuning the motors.

When we hopped off the air was fine. One after another the convey ships appeared on the horizon and were passed. We left the destroyer Barry behind at 1:30 o'clock, Greenwich time. Forty minutes later the fog shut down.

Perhaps in our hurry to get off from Iceland, I misunderstood what they told me about ice conditions. I don't know. From what they said I thought the ice lay 50 miles off the coast and projected high in air. At any rate, with the fog wrapping Cape Farewell, there was a possibility I might crash blindly into an iceberg or onto the rocks and lose my plane.

Never Saw Such a Fog.
Never have I seen such a fog. The engineer in the center of the

... could not see me at the wheel, nor I him. I decided it was best to land on the water and wait for the fog to lift. I nosed down until a couple of feet above

Only then did I realize how terrible the waves were. It was too late to land, so I slid onto the water, intending to keep up speed and rise again immediately. I plunged full speed through waves and high and tried to rise. The waves wouldn't take the air.

An hour later the fog lifted off the water. We tried again to get off and again failed. I shut off the motors and determined to wait until the next day, as the waves were still too heavy.

Next day the sea was clear and Greenland was in sight, the snow on the interior mountains making a piece with the sky, the horizon behind them and glaciers showing white tracks between the black rocks.

Tullio Crocio, the other pilot, and I were in fine spirits. We went on about the preparations for flying again. I was sure we would be in Frederiksdal in a few hours.

I ordered our two engineers to crank the propellers. Both had been seasick since we had landed the day before, but they crawled up in front of the engines and stood ready for the spark to be turned

But their strength had left them. They raised their arms feebly and then sank back with eyes closed. We tried again and again to arouse them, but they were too sick. Then the fog shut down again.

During all this time Crocio and I took turns at the wheel to keep the plane headed into the huge waves, which would have swamped us if taken sideways. On the third one of the mechanics recovered enough to take his turn at the wheel and it was then I decided our last chance had come.

I told them absolutely we must get off and they responded by starting both engines. One engine was missing slightly, but it was soon fixed. Not quickly enough, however, as we had hardly gotten going sweetly before the fog again descended.

Headed for Plane in Vain.
At midnight the fourth night, I was at the wheel. I glanced at my watch, saw it was 12 o'clock and I fired my Very Light pistol. The noise of it awoke a mechanic who looked his head up to look around. A ship! A light! he called, and I saw thoroughly awake, looked up to see a signal flash on the horizon. I fired a green flare and it was answered again.

Soon we were blinking our eyes in the searchlight beams from the Richmond. They took us aboard and I talked with Admiral Magruder. He was short of fuel and said we must go on. I pleaded to save my plane, but nothing could be done. It could not be lifted on board and the Richmond could not lift until morning in hopes of saving it to safety.

Then I looked over the side and saw my plane dashed by the waves up against the iron sides of the ship. I was heartbroken.

"Go, go, go," I cried, but it was too late.

We spent an hour rescuing our records. Then all waste was piled on the plane. A single match to it and then we steamed away to catch it in the darkness until, with the final burst, it was gone.

Dreams Fade With Last Spark.
Can you imagine how we four felt? Our dreams had faded with the last spark. My plane was not damaged by its 48 hours on the water. I could have gone on with a little repair work done on it. It was too bad.

For myself, I had no anxiety during the adventure. Twice my plane was shot down by Austrians in the war, and the paper said that Locatelli, of the D'Annunzio Squadron, was lost. Both times I escaped.

If I had another plane I should be much like to continue the flight, but flying is over for me for a time. Soon after I arrive in New York I shall sail for Italy, where I must attend the session of the Chamber of Deputies, of which I am a member from Lombardy.

I wish to thank the American Navy, Admiral Magruder and the men of the Richmond for saving us from our most perilous position.

SPAIN IN OPEN WAR EDICT AGAINST MOORS

"All Thought of Peaceful Solution Abandoned," Says Official Communication.

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, Sept. 4.—An official communication issued by the War Department today concerning the situation in Morocco says:
"All thought of a peaceful solution of the problem has been abandoned. The only matter under consideration is that once again a general uprising of the Moors has left open to direct attack upon and loss of communication with a number of positions in which our soldiers are garrisoned. This means war and the only way to reply is by war, not only because of our dignity, but also because of our spirit of solidarity and our instinctive sense for self-preservation."

Copyright, 1934, by the Press and Publishing Co., New York World and Sun.
PARIS, Sept. 4.—The Spanish warfare against the Moroccans in the Rif has fallen back to the gates of Tangier, and the natives, elated with success, are rising everywhere. Artillery fire is heard continually in Tangier and the main roads in all directions are closed to ordinary traffic, owing to military operations.
Spanish planes bomb villages. The flaming torch of revolt, borne by Abdel Krim's fanatics, has kindled revolt in whole regions around Wad Iau. There his men have cut the roads between Tangier and Tatan. Communications between Tatan and Larache are also precarious.

Spanish airplanes are bombing villages within ten miles of Tangier. A European, working on the Tangier-Fez Railway, has been slain by the Moors and his wife carried into captivity. The telephone and telegraph lines are wrecked.

German Business Improves.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Sept. 4.—Dispatches from the Rhineland and from Leipzig, where the fall fair now is in progress, indicate improved conditions in commercial, industrial and banking circles. The wine, tobacco and shoe trades in the Rhineland and the Bavarian palatinate are reported increasingly active. A Frankfurt dispatch announces that smoke is again coming from the stacks of many shoe factories at Pirmasens. Fifty French buyers are reported in attendance at the Leipzig fair.

BURGLARS GET GEMS AT BANKER'S HOME

Jewelry Valued at $8220 Taken
From the Residence of Jacob E. Lasky.

The home of Jacob E. Lasky, 704
Leland avenue, University City, president of the City Trust Co. and president-treasurer of the Franklin
Furniture Co., was robbed of jewelry valued at $8220 in the family's absence Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Lasky returned about 10:30
p. m. When she unlocked the front door she found it was blocked. Suspecting robbers might be in the house, she went to the home, in the same block, of her son, Edward Lasky, whom she had been visiting,
and returned with him.

Pushing open the door, they found it had been braced shut with a chair. Nothing in the house seemed to have been disturbed.
Mrs. Lasky went directly to a pantry shelf, where the jewelry was kept in a small silver box behind some pans. The kitchen door, with the key inside, was open, and the box and jewelry were gone.

The jewelry included a $2750
brooch set with 43 diamonds and 34 sapphires, a $2500 brooch set with 29 diamonds, and an $1135 diamond solitaire in platinum. The loss was insured.

Victor has latest hits and greatest artists!

It doesn't make any difference what kind of music you like, it's usually out first and always out best on Victor Records, played by a headline orchestra, sung by a first-rank artist, reproduced the unequalled Victor way. Opera, concert selections, dance music, your favorite classics have never been done so finely nor by such famous artists. You can safely put your entire faith in Victor experience, Victor artists and Victor quality of reproduction to afford you the most complete satisfaction.

Boris Godounow—Farewell of Boris (Farewell, My Son, I Am Dying) (Moussorgsky)	6455 $2.00
Boris Godounow—Death of Boris (Gladi! To the Posing Bell!) (Moussorgsky)
An impressive bass recording, with chorus, of two scenes from the tragic opera based on the life of the Russian agent in the time of Ivan the Terrible. A magnificent achievement.
Polichinelle (Punchinello) (Rachmaninoff) Piano Solo	6452 2.00
Nocturne in F Sharp Major (Chopin) Piano Solo
Rachmaninoff's ringly melodious "Polichinelle," capricious in style, mingling sadness and mirth; then the deli- cate, exquisitely poetic Chopin's Nocturne.

Concert Songs and Instrumental

Number	Price
Rhapsody in Blue—Part 1 (Gershwin—Arr. by Gershwin)	55225 1.50
Rhapsody in Blue—Part 2 (Gershwin—Arr. by Gershwin)
The most fiercely debated composition of the day, by Whiteman's enlarged concert orchestra, with the composer at the piano. Numbers unlike anything you ever heard before.
Less Than the Dust (L. Hope-A. Woodside-Finden) (No. 2 from "Four Indian Love Lyrics")	45424 1.00
Till I Wake (L. Hope-A. Woodside-Finden) (No. 4 from "Four Indian Love Lyrics")
Two numbers by the poet and composer—both women— of the "Kashmiri Song." The first has a vigorous rhythm like a sad dance; the second is slow, stern, tragic.
Sallie Johnson and Billy in the Low Ground	19372 .75
Done Gone (Friedman with Piano) "Eck" Robertson and his country fiddle in two of Eck's famous country-dance numbers of "old-fashioned" American music. Swift melody and droning, sleepy double-stops.

Light Vocal Selections

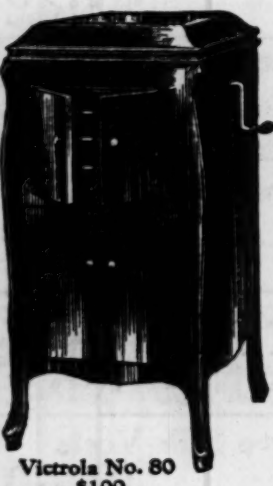

Number	Price
Charley, My Boy Billy Murray with International Novelty Orchestra	19411 .75
A New Kind of Man Aileen Stanley with International Novelty Orchestra
Fox trot songs by these famous comedy singers, with the finest kind of orchestral accompaniments. Unusual records.
Old Familiar Faces Shannon Quartet	19412 .75
In the Candle Light Peerless Quartet
"Heart-songs" with simple "appealing" harmonies, sung by two quartets specializing in popular music. The best in pop- ular as well as classic music is always found on Victor Records.

Dance Records

Number	Price
Mandala—Fox Trot String Beans—Fox Trot	19379 .75
Art Hickman's Orchestra Vincent Rose and His Montmartre Orchestra
First Victor Record by two famous California organizations. "Mandala" is a smooth, flexible number; the other is bub- bly and rumbly, humorous in manner.
Come On Red—Fox Trot Unfortunate Blues—Fox Trot	19384 .75
Whitney Kaufman's Original Pennsylvania Serenaders
Two records with the rhythmic element strong in them. "Come On Red" has plenty of instrumental "tricks," but with the dance moving subtly underneath.
Moana Chimes—Waltz Waikiki is Calling Me—Waltz	19385 .75
Hilo Hawaiian Orchestra Hilo Hawaiian Orchestra
Waltzes for a full-sized orchestra with Hawaiian guitars leading. Far above the average of contemporary waltz num- bers. Both in the popular manner and excellent records.

116 DAVIS-BRYAN CLUBS IN MISSOURI

Membership Fees Counted On to Swell Democratic Campaign Fund.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-22 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—John L. Johnston, president of the Liberty Central Trust Co., and W. Frank Carter, both of St. Louis, have been named by W. T. Kemper, national committeeman for Missouri, as his choice from whom the director of the Democratic financial campaign in Missouri should be selected.

A woman State financial director probably will be named later, but as yet no recommendation has been made.

Announcement of the State director by Jesse E. H. Jones of Texas, national finance director in New York, is expected soon. The Missouri director will have charge not only of the large contributions, but will also supervise the Davis-Bryan Victory clubs with their $5 membership fee. There are now 116 of these clubs in the State.

58 Clubs Contributed.
Of the 116 clubs, however, only 58 have turned in contributions. The State director will be expected to put life into the remaining 58. The presidents of these clubs for the most part are the leading local Democratic politicians. So far $5000 has been contributed by the Missouri clubs.

No quota has been fixed for Missouri, although the national slogan is 500,000 Victory Club Democrats by Nov. 1. Each member receives a receipt from the Washington headquarters and each club president a certificate signed by National Chairman Shaver.

While the rest of the State has 35 clubs, St. Louisans are asked to contribute $25 to the popular Democratic fund. The St. Louis club has no president but $1250 was contributed in 1933 and $550 this year, making a total of $2100.

Webster Groves is under the presidency of Ward Goodloe, but no contributions have been received from that club. The club at Cape Girardeau, under the presidency of T. J. Juden, sent in $185 last year and $175 this year. Galatin under the dual presidency of A. M. Dockery and Frank M. Davis, turned in $252.

The total amount contributed by the entire country thus far is $146,000. Should the clubs reach their goal of 500,000 members, the Democratic coffers would hold $2,500,000 in addition to the larger individual contributions.

Women are taking an active interest in club contributions. In Missouri, Dr. Bertha Sheets of Trenton has raised $225. The leading women's club is in Fort Wayne, Ind., where Mrs. A. E. Janschke has organized $1 women Democrats, while second honors go to Lexington, Ky., where Mrs. S. M. Wilson has sent in $225 representing 65 members.

QUITO, Ecuador, Sept. 4.—In a bill submitted to the Senate by the Foreign Minister the Ecuadorian Government demands ratification of the Versailles treaty and of the League of Nations covenant. The bill also would authorize the Government to announce its adherence to the League of Nations. The bill was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

NEW SUIT TO CANCEL DOHENY LEASE FILED

Government Charges That Oil Grant Was Obtained Illegally and Corruptly.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—Cancellation of another Doheny lease in the Elk Hills Naval Reserve, in Kern County, is sought in a suit filed in Federal Court here yesterday on behalf of the United States Government against the Pan-American Petroleum Co.

The plaintiff asks that a lease on sections 1 and 2 in the Naval Reserve be declared null and void on the ground that it was illegally and corruptly obtained.

The suit is similar to one filed last March seeking cancellation of the Doheny lease on section 24, and is based on similar allegations, the complaint charging that no open bidding preceded the granting of the lease; that no adequate consideration was mentioned, and that E. L. Doheny, head of the Pan-American Petroleum Co., gave Albert B. Fall, then Secretary of the Interior, $100,000 to "secure special privileges" corruptly.

An injunction is sought which would restrain the defendant corporation from drilling additional wells on the property. Pending litigation the court is requested to appoint a receiver to take charge of the property.

KANSAS CITY BANKS SAVE MONEY BY USING AIR MAIL

New York Checks Running as High as $2,500,000 Forwarded by Plane.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 4.—Millions of dollars each week are being sent from Kansas City to New York and other Eastern cities by air mail. Use of the air mail for the transfer of money, according to officers of the Commerce Trust Co., results in the saving of thousands of dollars interest that would be lost if the transfers were made by train.

The bank daily forwards by air mail a letter containing all New York checks of $1000 or more. The amount varies from $50,000 to $2,500,000 in each letter. By use of the air route the bank receives interest credit for these amounts on the second day following. A letter mailed Saturday, for instance, will be available for interest purposes in New York Monday.

While the Federal Reserve Bank has not yet adopted the use of air mail, many other Kansas City banks make all transfers to cities along the air routes by the more modern method. The safety of sending money shipments by air, also appeals to bankers and insurance companies.

I Spent

Fortunes to win beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My mother was rich and ambitious. From my earliest years she urged me to enhance my beauty. She gave me her methods and formulas. Then she took me in a world-search for the newer beauty helps.

Most people know the results. I became a famous beauty, and for many years I remained the rage. And now, after 40 years in the limelight, I still play a beauty's part. I still look a girl of 19.

Since then I have made many trips to France. I have consulted noted beauty experts and famous beauties everywhere. I have spent fortunes to find all the latest discoveries. So I believe that I now have the greatest beauty helps in existence. And certainly my results seem to prove that. I have been induced to place these helps at every woman's call. Druggists and toilet counters everywhere supply them—the very helps I use. Thus every woman may obtain for a trifle the helps that cost me fortunes.

One is a liquid essence which I call my Facial Youth. Louis L'Oréal, the famous Parisian beauty, first told me what it did. Now leading beauty experts the world over are advising this great formula.

It contains no oil, no vegetable fat, no animal product in any way with the skin. So it does not clog the pores, then drying. All the prime skin cells and deeper matter come out with it. A woman never knows what a clean skin means until she uses this Facial Youth.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth is everywhere for 50c. Beauty experts charge up to $5 for the same result.

I shall be glad to send you a small bottle free if you mail this coupon. It will bring you new counter-claims of what a clean skin means. Beauty Book comes with it. Out on the coupon now.

Executorship is Work for an Expert

MOST MEN IN BUSINESS have neither the opportunity nor the time to become familiar with the duties of an executor-trustee. Yet a very precise understanding of these duties is only a part of the many necessary qualifications.

In addition he should be familiar with conditions in the securities market; he should have a thorough knowledge of the real estate business; he should know the provisions of the various laws regarding estate taxes.

A trust company handles such work through a group of specialists. The St. Louis Union Trust Company, due to many years of experience in acting as executor and trustee, with a thorough knowledge of estate management, is qualified to manage your affairs efficiently and economically.

Our booklet "Safeguarding Your Family's Future" contains interesting information about the varied work of an executor and trustee, and the advantages of naming this Trust Company to assume these duties. We shall be glad to send you a copy.

KIEL WILL ASK HALF HOLIDAY FOR DEFENSE DAY

Wants Employees of Business Houses to Participate in Parade and Other Ceremonies.

National Defense day, Sept. 12, will be observed in St. Louis with a parade of military, civic and fraternal organizations, and of citizens of both sexes, from 18 to 45 years old.

Mayor Kiel will issue a proclamation requesting business houses to give employees a half holiday. The Board of Education will be asked to grant school children a half holiday in order that they may witness or participate in the parade. The program, at present, does not provide for participation of children in the parade.

Col. Albert T. Perkins, chairman of the Defense Day Committee, appointed by Mayor Kiel to arrange the local observance, expected at least 10,000 persons in the parade to the foot of Art Hill, in Forest Park, where ceremonies will take place, and where approximately 100,000 persons can view them from the natural amphitheater. The Art Hill program will include a patriotic address and festival chorus singing, directed by Frederick Fischer, and accompanied by a large band. The assemblage will take an oath of allegiance to the flag.

Regulars to Be in Line.

Civic and fraternal organizations will assemble for the parade on the north side of Lindell boulevard, from Kingshighway to De Baliviere avenue. The Sixth Infantry, Jefferson Barracks, will assemble on Kingshighway, south of Lindell boulevard, and the National Guard and Reserve Corps units will be south of the Sixth Infantry. The bands will meet on Kingshighway, opposite Barnes Hospital.

The parade will start at 3 p. m., marching west on Lindell boulevard and entering Forest Park at the Jefferson Memorial, where citizens may join and march to the foot of Art Hill. About 100 persons, representative of various organizations, including women's organizations, attended a meeting of the Defense Day Committee at the city hall yesterday. Before the Defense day plans were discussed and approved E. J. Spencer, chairman of a committee appointed by Mayor Kiel to arrange for a celebration of the 137th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, told of a demonstration in honor of that event to be held at the Municipal Theater, Forest Park, September 21. He explained that the anniversary is on Sept. 17, but, in order to insure a larger attendance, the local observance will be on Sunday, four days later.

Schools to Discuss Constitution.

Carl G. Rathmann, Assistant Superintendent of Instruction in Defense day demonstrations, was appointed yesterday by Mayor Stephens. Composed of more than 40 persons it represents virtually every organization in the city. It will meet next Thursday night in the city hall auditorium to make plans.

LLOYD-FOR-GOVERNOR CLUB IN ST. LOUIS SPENT $12,975

Victor J. Miller Out $14,100 in his Unsuccessful Race for the Governorship Nomination.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 4.—Statements of expenditures on behalf of two defeated candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor, Hiram Lloyd and Victor J. Miller, both of St. Louis, were filed today with the Secretary of State.

Miller reported $14,100 expended. The St. Louis Lloyd-for-Governor Club reported expenditures of $12,975. The latter report does not cover Lloyd's own expenditure in the primary campaign, as he has not filed his own expense account. The Lloyd-for-Governor Club report was filed by William Nickamp, treasurer. It showed $12,975 in contributions, the same amount as the expenditures. Two $500 contributions by L. H. Waitke and T. N. Sayman were included in the list. The principal expense items listed were $4421 for advertising; $3302 for postage and $2765 for printing.

Miller's report was brief, the $14,100 being reported largely for organization and printing expenses. The expenses were given by totals, without itemization of names.

Held Position in 1904-05 During Administration of Mayor
Rolla Wells.

John R. Fontana, speaker of the old House of Delegates in 1904-05, during the administration of Mayor Rolla Wells, died at Springfield, Ill., Tuesday of paralysis following a 14-day illness. He was 58 years old. The funeral will be in Springfield tomorrow.

Fontana was active in Democratic politics here and conducted saloons at Jefferson Avenue and Olive Street, and near Ninth and Olive streets. He was one of the promoters of the old Delmar and World's Fair race tracks.

He moved to Springfield about 12 years ago and opened a saloon across the street from the Chicago & Alton Railroad depot. With prohibition he converted the rear of the saloon into a soft drink stand and established a fruit stand in the front. He is survived by his widow, a daughter and two sons, at Springfield, a brother, Christ Fontana, and two sisters, Mrs. A. A. Lancaster and Mrs. Rose Botto, of St. Louis, and another sister residing in California.

DOCTOR SUES FOURTH WIFE FOR DIVORCE

Bert P. Beebe Arrested on Her Complaint Last June on Abandonment Charge.

Dr. Bert P. Beebe, 44 years old, a physician with offices at 4009 Chouteau avenue, today filed suit to divorce Doris Beebe, 22, his fourth wife. General indignities were charged.

They were married a year ago, after a three-week courtship. Beebe's three other wives sued him for divorce, charging immorality. Last June the present Mrs. Beebe had him arrested on charges of wife abandonment after he left on what his petition terms a "short trip to get relief from her persistent nagging."

Insanely Jealous, He Charges.
Dr. Beebe's petition asserts his wife quarreled and nagged at him constantly. She was "insanely jealous and would rant and rife at him and accuse him of improper conduct with his patients and employees," he alleges. He charges she would station herself outside of his office and refuse to permit patients who did not meet with her approval to enter.

Other allegations are that she would create scenes in his office by tipping over furniture and despoiling his files and instruments, that she hurled books, chinaware and furniture at him, and that "in tantrums she would kick out the windshield of his automobile."

Beebe also declares his wife threw a glass of water in his face in public and tossed cigarette stubs in his food and liquids.

Wife Enters Appearance.
At the time of Dr. Beebe's "vacation," his wife told reporters, he left her "without a penny," and that "he gave me a heavy rush and persuaded me to marry him before I had time to think. I've had plenty of time to think since then." She signed an entry of appearance in the divorce suit.

Wagner to Give Festival Again.
By the Associated Press.
BAYREUTH, Bavaria, Sept. 4.—

Siegfried Wagner, son of the famous composer, announces that the financial returns of the recent Wagner festival justifies his announcing that the festival will be held again next year when the singers will be paid and will not be asked to give their services free as they did this year. He said extensive alterations and improvements would be made in the festival theater.

POLICE ACCUSE EX-SALOON KEEPER OF CONLEY MURDER

Say Fred Dalton Fired Shots Which Killed Man Found in South Broadway Yard.

WOMEN HELD TELL STORY OF SHOOTING

Say Dalton Was on Porch When Shots Were Fired—Quarrel Preceded Killing.

"We are satisfied that the shots that killed John Conley were fired by Fred Dalton."

This is the conclusion of the police homicide squad, formally reported after 24 hours' investigation of the murder of John Conley, 40 years old, a brother of the late Police Lieutenant Thomas Conley, whose body was found early yesterday in the rear yard of a double flat at 7221-23 South Broadway.

The flats are owned by Dalton, a former saloon keeper, who has been arrested several times.

Dalton, under arrest at Police Headquarters, has refused to make a statement until he consults his attorney. Police assert, however, that, when he was arrested yesterday, he admitted shooting Conley.

Two women who figure in the case, Mrs. Amanda Ward and Mrs. Frieda Chamberlain, sisters, also are being held at Police Headquarters.

In signed statements, made by Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Chamberlain, and by their cousin, Henry Bobring, 6030 North Broadway, and Bobring's wife, Elsie, the events that preceded and followed the shooting of Conley are related substantially as follows:

Conley Left Party. Tuesday evening, Mrs. and Mrs. Bobring were dinner guests of Dalton and Mrs. Chamberlain, who occupied the flat at 7223 South Broadway. Other guests were Mrs. Ward, who occupied the flat directly above, and her sister, Conley.

After the meal the Bobrings departed, and the four others suggested an automobile trip, but Conley declined the invitation and went away.

Dalton and the two sisters returned to Dalton's flat from their automobile tour about 10:30 p. m. and went to the kitchen. They were there about 15 minutes when Conley rushed in through the rear door, grabbed Mrs. Ward by the neck and dragged her out to the porch, down the steps and into the rear yard.

Mrs. Chamberlain attempted to rescue her sister, but was pushed aside and ran back into the house.

After declaring "I love you, Mandy," Conley struck Mrs. Ward and began choking her. Mrs. Ward screamed and Dalton appeared on the back porch in time to hear Conley say, "I'll blow you and your whole place up." Then two shots were fired and Conley fell, shot twice in the chest and mortally wounded.

Burned Blood-Stained Dress. Dalton and the sisters, after locking the doors of their flats, went in a taxicab to the Bobring home, where they spent the remainder of the night. Yesterday Mrs. Ward burned a dress, which had become blood-stained in her struggle with Conley, and Mrs. Chamberlain burned a patent leather shoe, the heel of which she had lost while in the rear yard.

Dalton and Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Chamberlain were arrested at the Bobring home at 1:45 p. m. yesterday.

Mrs. Ward, while stating she did not see who killed Conley, said the shots were fired after Dalton appeared on the porch. Mrs. Chamberlain, who was in the kitchen, said the shots were fired after Dalton went from the kitchen to the porch. The shotgun found in the yard near Conley's body is said by police to belong to Dalton.

Conley's cheeks were scratched, as if by finger nails, and an eye discolored.

Statements that the shooting occurred about 10:45 p. m. conflict with previous reports to the police. Napoleon Ragdale, who was sleeping in a shed nearby, placed the time at 1:30 a. m., and this is the time of death mentioned in Conley's funeral notice. Bobring said Dalton and the two women came to his home between 3 and 3:30 a. m.

Calls Conley "Sweetheart." Mrs. Ward said she had known Conley since childhood, and referred to him as her sweetheart. She is a widow, and he formerly boarded with her at another address. His last address was 4101 South Broadway. Mrs. Chamberlain was known to neighbors as "Mrs. Dalton."

Funeral services for Conley, who was a railroad switchman, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow from an undertaking parlor at 2623 Cherokee street, to New St. Marcus Cemetery. He is survived by a daughter and three brothers.

INDIANA SAFE
 FOR DAVIS, STATE
 LEADERS REPORT

Presidential Nominee Is Told of Favorable Effect of His Speech Denouncing
 K. K. K.

CHEERING NEWS
 FROM CHICAGO

Jewett Shouse Tells Him
 That La Follette Is Cutting
 Into G. O. P. Ranks
 in Kansas.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—John W. Davis has every reason to believe he did the correct thing, politically as well as normally, when he denounced the Ku Klux Klan in his speech at Sea Girt, N. J.

He was told by leaders from Indiana yesterday that the reaction from the speech had been such as to indicate that it had definitely placed the State in the Democratic column and that its good effects had been finely supplemented among the labor people by his declarations at Wheeling, W. Va.

Nor is Indiana the only place in the Middle West where the leaders declare, the statement of Davis on the Ku Klux is working to the advantage of the Democratic candidate. He was visited yesterday by a large delegation of Polish, Lithuanian, Jewish and Irish representatives of Chicago, who praised his stand and promised he would receive the vote of a majority of all these elements.

While the La Follette talk continued to pour in, there is no doubt that Davis' second day in Chicago was a tour in many counties, said there was no doubt that Davis would receive the State's electoral vote.

Three Indiana leaders from different parts of the State, united in the report of the satisfactory conditions. William F. O'Neill, formerly Lieutenant-Governor, who has just returned from a tour in many counties, said there was no doubt that Davis would receive the State's electoral vote.

"The splendid impression made by Mr. Davis' speech of acceptance was deepened by his Sea Girt speech," said O'Neill, "and his declaration there on the Klan issue was particularly timely in Indiana, where signs of disintegration of the Klan forces are becoming more apparent daily. The unequivocal position taken by Davis on this issue will mean thousands of votes for the Democratic ticket in Indiana."

To Speak in Missouri
 Reports on Kansas were brought by Jewett Shouse, formerly a Missouri supporter in that State, and Joseph T. Davis, St. Louis lawyer, reported on the prospects in that State.

Davis will leave Chicago tomorrow evening for Omaha, where he will make an address on the agricultural question Saturday. He will spend Sunday in Lincoln with Charles W. Bryan, his running mate, and then go to Denver for his farthest West address of the present trip.

The nominee will speak at Winston, Mo., and Des Moines, Ia., before returning to Chicago. The plans as they are being considered, contemplate a return East to fill several engagements, and then another drive in the West with addresses in Chicago, and another Illinois city, and at St. Louis.

INDIANA SAFE FOR DAVIS, STATE LEADERS REPORT

Presidential Nominee Is Told of Favorable Effect of His Speech Denouncing K. K. K.

CHEERING NEWS FROM CHICAGO

Jewett Shouse Tells Him That La Follette Is Cutting Into G. O. P. Ranks in Kansas.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—John W. Davis has every reason to believe he did the correct thing, politically as well as normally, when he denounced the Ku Klux Klan in his speech at Sea Girt, N. J.

He was told by leaders from Indiana yesterday that the reaction from the speech had been such as to indicate that it had definitely placed the State in the Democratic column and that its good effects had been finely supplemented among the labor people by his denunciations of Wheeling, W. Va.

He was visited yesterday by a large delegation of Polish, Lithuanian, Jewish and Irish representatives of Chicago, who praised his stand and promised he would receive the vote of a majority of all these elements.

While the La Follette talk continued to pour in, there is no doubt that Davis' second day in Chicago brought him a good deal more reason for optimism than did the first. Excellent chance in Kansas.

That Missouri was safe, with the Davis sentiment growing and national divisions forgotten. Excellent chance in Kansas. That the La Follette movement in Kansas was taking far more from the Republican strength than from the Democratic, so that the re-election of Gov. Jonathan Davis is regarded as certain, while the Democratic candidate for President stands an excellent chance of getting the State's electoral vote.

Three Indiana leaders from different parts of the State, united in the report of the satisfactory conditions. William F. O'Neil, formerly Lieutenant Governor, who has just returned from a tour in many counties, said there was no doubt that Davis would receive the State's electoral vote.

Bishop Brown Sends Challenge to Colleagues; Calls Judges Heretics

Offers to Resign or Recant if Bishops Will Affirm Literal Belief in Certain Doctrines.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. GALLION, O., Sept. 4.—The Rt. Rev. William Montgomery Brown, retired Episcopal Bishop of Arkansas, who was found guilty of heresy by an ecclesiastical court at Cleveland last May, has sent a letter to the Episcopal House of Bishops, offering to recant on certain conditions, or to resign his ministry and membership in the House of Bishops.

After his conviction Bishop Brown appealed to a Special Church Court of Review which will meet in Cleveland next month. The trial court set Oct. 14 as the date for pronouncing sentence, but the sentence must be approved by two-thirds of the Bishops.

The possible penalties are admonition, indefinite suspension from the ministry, deposition from the ministry.

Letter of Bishop. In his letter Bishop Brown says: "In order to avoid any share in the heavy responsibility for the great damage by which the House and Church may further suffer, if the ill-adviced trial of me is prolonged, I request that the general convention, or the House of Bishops, or at least a majority of the individual Bishops, shall state as to the following simple propositions, whether the church will affirm them to be facts or truths, in accordance with the literal significance of the words used in the making of them as they are found in the Old and New Testaments, in the Book of Common Prayer, in the Apostolic and Nicene Creeds, and in the Thirty-Nine Articles of Religion, as these must have been interpreted by those who first wrote them. These seven propositions are:

"1. God is an objective, conscious, personal reality, existing independently of all other realities."
"2. God made out of nothing heaven and earth with all that in them is."
"3. Man's existence was brought about not by direct, creative acts of God, but by evolution from lower forms of life."

"4. The world owes all its death and suffering to the disobedience of Adam, and this fatal fall was due to Eve who was persuaded to eat of the forbidden fruit by a serpent."

"5. All men must rely upon the atoning death of Christ, an objective, conscious, personal being, for salvation from sin, and those who do not will for that reason suffer."

"6. Christ rose bodily from death and ascended into heaven, and he sits where he now sits on the right hand of God."

"7. The bodies of all dead men, women and children will at some time be physically resurrected."

"8. The church, or house, or even a bare majority of the Bishops, will pronounce these seven propositions to be so many literal (not spiritual or mystical) truths. I withdraw my booklet, 'Common sense and Christianity,' from circulation, to publicly renounce the doctrines of the 23 quotations made from it by your prosecuting committee and to conform my teaching to the pronouncement; or, else voluntarily and peaceably to resign my ministry in the Protestant Episcopal Church and so withdraw from its House of Bishops."

"You have repeated the fall of Adam, and this logically involves the denial of the whole plan of salvation according to Christian orthodoxy. Without, except for the incarnation and the atonement. Can you retain the theological superstructure without its foundation?"

Cites Case of Astronomy. "You, my brethren in the House of Bishops, without exception, have, I suppose, read the Moslem astronomy out of the Bible and read into it the Copernican. If this is the case, as it should be, it is not possible to exaggerate the greatness of your heresy; for, if there is no firmament, there can be no heaven above it, nor any ascension to it for an eternal life; but without this Biblical heaven and life, Christian orthodoxy is meaningless.

"In view of this extreme heresy, and it involves devil and hell as well as God and heaven, how do you persuade yourselves that it is your privilege to remain in the House while it is my duty to leave it?"

"The church is not yours, nor mine, but ours, and I have the right to do what I can towards teaching it the scientific biology, psychology and sociology, which do away with its traditional doctrines of the fall and redemption of man; that is, I have the right if you have the right to teach it the scientific astronomy which does away with the traditional heaven and hell as celestial places, and as well as a conscious, personal life of bliss or woe in them."

"Each one among you is relatively neither more nor less orthodox than I am, and for two reasons: (1) the doctrinal standards of our church are not self-interpreting, and (2) the mental content which their supernaturalistic representations must symbolize in order to the making of them, orthodox has never been authoritatively defined. Hence, my interpretation of such representations is just as near to, or far removed, as yours is to an undefined orthodoxy."

"No one need be tried for alleged heresy; if he is absurd, he should be discredited by laughter; if he is dangerous, he should be discredited by answers."

"No one should be tried for alleged heresy; if he offers to make the trial unnecessary on fair conditions, I made two such offers which should have prevented the beginning of the movement against me, and in this letter I make a third which should end it."

Charges Heretics. "No one should be tried for alleged heresy by prosecutors and judges who are themselves heretics. On this ground I strenuously protested the competency of any members of the House of Bishops to try me; and, in the case of each Bishop I offered to prove out of his own mouth by his answers to a list of interrogatories that he, as myself, believed in the doctrines which are contrary to our doctrinal standards, if a literal interpretation of their representations covering the fundamentals of Christian orthodoxy, if they must be interpreted literally, there is no intention (so the prosecution announced at the trial) of coming out from the membership of the church."

"Why, then, should there be any desire to exclude me from the house? If such heresy is no longer a crime for which laymen are liable to excommunication, why should it continue to be one on which clericalism is in danger of deposition?"

"Surely if it is not necessary to the salvation of men, women and children that they should be taught the supernaturalism of the Old and New Testaments, literally interpreted, there is no reason why it should be so believed by Bishops, priests and deacons, and I am as ready as any to believe and teach them symbolically interpreted."

"If you contend, as it was contended at the trial, that I am not a Christian; and, therefore, I can have no rightful place in the Protestant Episcopal Church, especially not in its ministry, I answer by asking, what mental content constitutes Christianity, and my question will never be infallibly and authoritatively answered."

EFFECTS OF DAWES PLAN ALREADY FELT, SAYS MELLON

Secretary Declares It Demonstrates U. S. Is More Influential Outside of League Than In.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Back at his desk after his vacation in Europe, Secretary Mellon today declared acceptance of the Dawes reparation settlement had demonstrated beyond doubt that the United States exert its greatest influence in untangling Europe's problems by acting in an unofficial capacity. This country is in a better position to wield its power for world good when acting as a friend and adviser, he said, than it would be if connected officially with the League of Nations. He asserted that the Dawes plan had placed Europe on the road to prosperity and that its effects already are apparent.

BRITISH WORKERS DECLINE TO JOIN RED INTERNATIONAL

Russian Fraternal Delegates Welcomed Heavily, However; "Workers' Charter" Adopted.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—At the annual conference of the Trade Union Congress at Hull yesterday, five Russian fraternal delegates were welcomed and cheered. Then the conference rejected a proposal that the general council of the Trade Union Congress work for an international conference of all trade union organizations—including the Red Trade Union Internationale which has headquarters at Moscow and which is not affiliated with the Amsterdam Trade Union Internationale (non-Communist). The session adopted the so-called "workers' charter" calling for the nationalization of land, mines and railways, a minimum wage for each industry, pensions for all at the age of 60, adequate provision for unemployment, adequate housing accommodation, full educational facilities and a 44-hour working week.

PRIMARY RESULT IN WISCONSIN A BLOW TO COOLIDGE

La Follette Men Win Two-to-One Victory, Despite G. O. P. Committee Forecasts.

NO WEAKENING OF NORTHWEST REVOLT

Regulars Counted on Winning Two Seats in Congress Now Held by Insurgents.

By CHARLES MICHELOSON. A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Wisconsin's primary result is the discouraging news that has come to President Coolidge since the campaign opened. The Republican National Committee had been issuing bulletins telling of the disintegration of the La Follette strength there.

They were confident they would win at least two congressional seats now held by the insurgents. This was part of the hope of destroying the La Follette balance of power in the House.

The primary demonstrates that La Follette is stronger in his home State than ever before. His candidates carried the Republican primaries by approximately two to one, including every Congressman.

Much had been made of a supposed break between the Senator and John J. Blaine, the candidate for Governor whom he had endorsed. Blaine objected to Secretary of State Zimmerman, who also was La Follette's selection, and got behind Theodore Demmann. Zimmerman ran away with the primary.

No Weakening of Revolt. The significance of the primary is that it indicates that there has been no weakening of the independent movement in the Northwest. It indicates that La Follette probably will carry Iowa and Minnesota, and tends to validate the claims that he will take over from the Republicans the whole northern tier of states to the Pacific.

It also indicates Republican trouble in Nebraska and Kansas. The strength of the La Follette movement in these States to the Democrats. Charles G. Dawes is to make a campaign speech in Milwaukee shortly, which, in view of yesterday's event, seems like wasted effort.

Should the trend shown in Wisconsin be an index of what will happen in the West, it at least will cast the election into Congress. However the Republicans are still sending out optimistic words about that section. The only place they admit La Follette is showing weakness is in the Northwest, where they have a long haul.

How Rival Airmen Met in a Far Land, and the Americans in Pajamas Aided MacLaren Flight; Broome Would Order a Great Imaginative Picture

"Great-Hearted Fellow Airmen Not Rivals, but Our Very Gallant Friends," Writes Lieut. Col. Broome

By Mail From the Tokio Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

TOKIO, Aug. 4.—A message of sincere appreciation and thanks to the American people for the spirit of co-operation and sportsmanship shown by their representatives in the American round-the-world flight here last May is carried in the following letter by Lieutenant-Colonel L. E. Broome, now with Major Stuart MacLaren and the British flyers in Japan.

The letter, with its familiar touch, lends interest to the keen international competition in the flights. It demonstrates, too, it seems, the benefit resulting from the flight and the good it is doing in bettering international understanding.

Lieutenant-Colonel Broome came out from London by way of Canada and mapped out the British flyers' course through the north islands in the Far East and across the Pacific to American shores. He spent three months in this work.

It consisted of placing gasoline "dumps" or supplies along the route of these northern islands and arranging for landings along the way. He joined the British flyers when they reached Japan and in their guide at this time over their quite hazardous flight across the Pacific.

Broome's letter follows: "Life is mostly froth and bubble, two things stand like stone. Kindness in another's trouble, courage in one's own."

Adam Lindsay Gordon. "I have a pleasant story to tell—about a fellow flyer and his Britons alike will be proud and glad to hear. Please let me try to tell it in my own way."

"The American team of Round-the-World Flyers, led by Lieut. Col. L. E. Broome, arrived in Japan, and on a Sunday morning (May 25) I had arranged to breakfast with them in the bedroom of their leader, Lieut. Smith, at the Imperial Hotel, Tokio. I was to be free from interruption and could talk flying ship and swap experiences to our hearts' content."

"I arrived on time (8:30 a. m.) and found a merry tussle between the three great birds. For past half an hour, rushing in and out of their bedrooms and getting into their neat uniforms in readiness for the day's program of receptions, luncheons, teas and dinners that all Japan was showering on them during the few days of their stay in Tokio. We ordered trays of grapefruit, ham and eggs and coffee, and settled down to recount our various adventures since we all last met on Langley Flying Field, in Virginia, the previous February."

Plucked Fair Laurel of Fame. This splendid lady, for I, alas, am older than the youngest of them—had just plucked a fair laurel of fame to wear forever more on those rumpled heads of theirs, for they had just succeeded in crossing the Pacific by way of the air for the first time in history—through gales of wind, snow flurries, rain squalls and bitter weather, as I can vouch for, having flown over the route since we left, laying the British dums, a week or two ahead of them in a 125-foot trawler, through a succession of westerly gales, with our hull and rigging used in ice and green seas tumbling on board with monotonous frequency.

the Kommandor's Islands they flew.

Would Portray Historic Scene. If I were the President of the United States I would summon me an artist with imagination (although I take it he would not be an artist if he had not) and commission him forthwith to paint a picture of heroic size of the following: A black, rocky shore, with reefs, like the teeth of a saw running out from each and every headland, against which the racing combers break into white fury. Inland the everlasting fog hangs low down on the mountains, hiding everything to within four or five hundred feet of the sea. Deep snow lies over the tundra, covering grass and on the beaches, where the first of the great seal herd are already hauling out after their long swim to their age-old breeding grounds. I am afraid the roar of the herd as they come ashore, challenge the three great shapes which swiftly appear out of the misty distance cannot be painted, but what about those scarcely visible snow-covered mounds just below that half-rotten wooden cross on the tundra near the beach? See, they burst from their very graves, those hard-bitten adventurers who died at the bidding of Peter the Great, the mightiest Czar of all the Russias.

"They stand in ranks in their trenches, their fleshless fingers, all crippled with frostbite, trying to straighten their scrawny-bent knees, to salute these fellow-adventurers whose shining wings are upborne by the same winds that carried themselves from Kamchatka to Cape St. Elias and back to their death on Behring's Isle. At their head towers stout old Vitus Behring, the Dane, still in command of his 52 corpses and their sightless eye sockets are all upturned, peering through the fog wrack as they wait for the first of the new team to come overboard. The wreck of their ship, the St. Peter, might be shown lying half buried in the sand with the survivors camped near by under rough tents made of their skins, before they built themselves a tiny new sloop from her broken frames and planking."

News of MacLaren's Crash. "But to come back to my story: 'Well, the laughter and chatter and the time flew and the hour for the first of their engagements for the day drew near, when there came a knock at the door, and the Japanese 'boy' handed me a telegram."

Briton, Who Mapped Out the Course for His Countrymen's Flight, Describes Conference in Tokio.

gram: MacLaren crashed at Aktyab. Plane completely wrecked. Continuation of flight doubtful."

"Without a word, I handed it to Lieut. Smith, and he read it and passed it on to the others, and I think I then remarked, 'Two years' work gone west and three months' hell in the transfer all for nothing being but human, how could I help thinking first of my own bitter disappointment. Then I thought of Major MacLaren and his companions at Aktyab—their beautiful machine a wreck and that he must be thinking how he could get the spare one, that I was that very day loading on to the steamer the Hakoada, Hakodate Harbor, 500 miles to the north of Tokio, as a spare machine for our Pacific flight."

Americans Map Relief Plans. "That, and a thousand other thoughts were tumbling over each other when Lieut. Smith said, 'We'll get the machine to MacLaren somehow. Let's come upstairs to Commander Abbott's bedroom and have a talk to him.'"

"Within a minute we were there and surprised Captain Abbott in his pajamas, and within five minutes we were in the kitchen, where men had roughed out practical plans—how Captain Abbott, on his own responsibility, would rush a destroyer to Hakodate, and then load and carry the huge cases to Nagasaki, where his boat, so to speak, ended, meanwhile cabling Admiral Washington, commanding the American Asiatic fleet, for permission to take it further—all the way to Aktyab, if necessary."

"I left them so that I could get a radio off to the British Commander-in-Chief of the China Station, asking if it were possible to transport the plane to a British man-of-war at Hongkong."

Prompt Response by America. "Meanwhile, hurried measurements were taken of the available space of the no American destroyer John Paul Jones, then in Yokohama harbor, and it was ascertained that it was just possible to get the biggest case of 37 feet, 6 inches, weighed four and one-half tons, on board. Also that the case containing the wings, which measured 25x10 feet, could be carried, no small feat on the crowded deck of a destroyer, when every inch of space carries some deadly engine of war."

"An answer came from Admiral Washington within a few hours, offering to rush the plane to Maj. MacLaren at Aktyab, transhipping it to another American destroyer at Hongkong."

"That same evening I received an answer from our own Commander-in-Chief: 'Gladly regret I have no vessel available for the purpose.'"

"The first message I had already called to MacLaren, who answered next day in just two words: 'Well done.' It was addressed to me, whereas it should have been addressed to our great-hearted fellow airmen, not our rivals or opponents, but our very gallant friends and competitors."

Will Remain Wonderful Memory. "I had also wired the good news to London to the great firm who built our plane, and received an answer with that of Maj. MacLaren at Aktyab: 'Please tender to American naval authorities our thanks for very kind action.'"

"I called on the American Ambassador, Mr. Cyrus E. Woods and wired to Admiral Washington, but the spoken word was not enough to convey the gratitude due for what will always remain a wonderful memory—help and sympathy in our ill-fortune—the first prompt and practical, and the second as tender as it was welcome."

"So I can only repeat and hand in Maj. MacLaren's message: 'Well done.'"

DEMOCRATS OF STATE PLAN TO DENOUNCE K. K. K.

Proposed Plank for Missouri Platform Quotes Recent Utterance of John W. Davis.

NELSON SAID TO FAVOR THIS COURSE

Nominees Meet in Jefferson City to Discuss Platform to Be Adopted at State Convention.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 4.—The Ku Klux Klan will be denounced by name in the Democratic State platform, in the opinion of Democratic leaders and nominees who assembled here today to agree on the phrasing of such a plank in advance of the Democratic platform convention to be held on Sept. 9, probably in Jefferson City.

The anti-Ku Klux plank will be a reproduction, wholly or in part, of the utterances of John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, in denunciation of the Klan in a speech at Sea Girt, N. J., on Aug. 22, it is said.

Some of the leaders here favor incorporating all of Davis' statements on the Klan in the platform, while others favor including only the more important excerpts. While other platform planks are to be discussed at the conference, which begins here this afternoon, the anti-Ku Klux plank will be the principal matter before the conference.

Harry B. Hawes of St. Louis, candidate for re-election to Congress from the Eleventh District and an avowed enemy of the Klan, today said a plank denouncing Davis' antikan utterances would be satisfactory to him. Hawes said that if the Ku Klux Klan was not named in the plank, the fight to denounce the organization by name would be carried to the floor of the convention.

Nelson Said to Favor Plank. Dr. Arthur W. Nelson of Booneville, nominee for the governorship, declined to comment on the proposed plank, but it is expected he favors incorporating all of the Davis statement in the platform.

A proposed plank to be put before the conference is the following excerpt from the Davis speech: "Whenever any organization, no matter what it chooses to be called—whether Ku Klux Klan or any other name—raises the standard of racial and religious prejudices, or attempts to deprive citizens of religious beliefs, the test of fitness for public office, it does violence to the spirit of American institutions and must be condemned by all those who believe in American ideals."

Such a plank was adopted recently by the Ohio Democratic convention. There will be some discussion of plank on taxation and economy in Government. It is not expected that the platform will carry any fiery criticism of the Republican state administration; as Nelson's supporters believe he received the votes of many Republican farmers in the primary.

Nominees at Conference. Among the Democratic nominees here for the conference are Mrs. Kate Morrow of Warrensburg, candidate for Secretary of State; George H. Middlekamp of Kansas City, candidate for State Auditor; John H. Stone of Adrian, candidate for State Treasurer; Milton A. Romius of Mason, candidate for Congress from the First District; George H. Combs of Kansas City, candidate for Congress from the Fifth District, and C. C. Dickinson of Clinton, candidate for Congress from the Sixth District.

A plank drafted by the State Highway Commission will be presented both to the Democrats and the Republicans, carrying endorsement of initiative proposition No. 6. This includes recommendations of the commission for providing revenue to complete the State highway system without additional bond issues.

Nelson, Mrs. Morrow, Middlekamp and Stone received the endorsement of the Ku Klux Klan in ballots circulated by the Klan here and in Kansas City before the primary, but all denied membership in the organization.

Senator Norbeck to Take Stump. By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Senator Feter Norbeck of South Dakota, has been added to the list of Republican national campaign speakers. National Headquarters announced today. Norbeck was one of the co-authors of the Norbeck-Burrows bill for agricultural relief. He has spoken chiefly in Nebraska and has decided to take an active part in the Coolidge-Dawes campaign, headquarters said.

NEW REPUBLICAN STATE HEADQUARTERS

Second Floor of United Home Building Rented for Two Months Beginning Sept. 10.

Headquarters of the Republican State Committee during the coming campaign will be on the second floor of the United Home (Holland) Building, 211 North Seventh street. Dr. E. B. Clements, national committeeman, said today.

He has arranged to rent the entire second floor for two months. Arrangements were made prior to organization of the new State Committee, to take advantage of a low rental for the period. Headquarters will be opened about Sept. 10. State headquarters now are maintained at Hotel Claridge.

The Republican City Committee has rented rooms 348, 350 and 351 Planters Building, Fourth and Pine streets, as headquarters to replace those now at 264 Odd Fellows' Building. The change will be made in about a week. As is known, all tenants above the ground floor in the Odd Fellows Building have been ordered out by Sept. 30 for remodeling of the building.

Members of the Democratic City Committee have suggested moving to larger headquarters than are now occupied in the Buder (Pontiac) Building, but no action has been taken.

Silence Encouraged Lawlessness.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
It will be interesting to note how rapidly the Ku Klux Klan movement will wane now that two of the presidential candidates have denounced them. This only proves that there should never have been any Klan if public officers in high places had had the courage to denounce them from the start.

During the past three years Catholics, Jews and foreigners have been persecuted and in several instances tortured and murdered in free America by this inhuman organization without one word of intervention from the chief executive or his predecessors.

The hideous acts of this un-American organization are a reflection on the progress of civilization and good government. Although many opportunities presented themselves, "Silent" Calcuting "Cal" chose to remain silent and complacent in the face of this national disgrace.

Bus Traffic and Street Construction.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
My attention has just been called to the reply of Mr. Richard W. Meade to my letter published in the Post-Dispatch of the 14th, in which I made the statement that the People's buses weighed, when loaded, 25,000 pounds, that our streets were not sufficiently founded to carry such an enormous weight; that an investigation should be made and if it was found to be as stated, no more permits should be granted.

Inasmuch as the streets are reconstructed long before the buses are ever dreamed of in St. Louis, they were not built to carry such enormous loads, especially by vehicles running at such a high rate of speed. Replying to this statement you say the buses only weigh 25,000 pounds when loaded and that they do no more damage to the streets than a Pierce-Arrow limousine, and further replying to my statement that your company did not contribute one cent to the upkeep of the streets on which your buses operate, you say you have paid nearly $700 per bus per annum. Seven hundred dollars to run a bus is no mean sum, but so far the city has failed to find from any of the city departments where such payments have been made. You pay a tax of 1 per cent on your gross receipts. Your last and only report showed receipts of $208,976.70; your tax on this amounts to $2,089.76; add to this $25 city license per bus per year, which gives $208,976.70 total, $11,319.20, which gives $113 tax per bus; but the writer fails to see where the tax of $113 per bus operated, heavy as it is, can be called a tax for the upkeep of the roadbed on which your vehicles run. The upkeep of the streets are not a general tax on all property owners, but a special tax which all property owners abutting the streets on which your buses run are called upon to pay and if the roadbed is found to be too weak to stand the weight we better find out now, in justice to every property owner on your line of travel, who will be called upon to pay for the damage caused by your heavy vehicles.

Has Escaped Trial.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
RICKLESS drivers continue to kill and wound. This condition will become steadily worse. First, because cities are too tight, second, because jail sentences are not imposed. Many do not come to trial at all. Here is one instance: On July 4 a man driving a heavy car came down a steep hill at Broadway and Calvary Avenue, smashed my car and severely injured my wife, who is scarred for life and in a very weak condition. In spite of all my efforts, this man has escaped trial and has never had a hearing of any kind. Is there any wonder so many people take the law in their own hands?

Our Fire Fighters.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
RECENTLY I had occasion to see a fire and witnessed one of the finest exhibitions of bravery and systematic action on the part of the firemen I ever saw. Thanks to their efforts and good judgment, the conflagration was of short duration, with comparatively little appreciable damage.

Their integrity wavered not a bit in the face of one of the fiercest antagonists that human courage and skill have ever combated, their own safety being of but secondary consideration.

I say these brave men are more philanthropic than a dozen Carnegie or Rockefeller, so who will join me in saying: Three cheers for the firemen of St. Louis! JOHN M. KLININGER, SPEAK FOR YOURSELF, CAL!

It took Mr. Coolidge eight days to get C. Bascom Siemp, his secretary, to answer the letter of Joseph Brannin, asking the President how he stood on the Ku Klux Klan. How long will it take Mr. Coolidge to get somebody to answer the question put to him by John W. Davis the day after the Brannin letter was published, with regard to his stand on the Klan? We are willing to wager odds that it will not be before the Maine election.

The cause of Mr. Coolidge's silence on the Klan is manifest. The Klan is the issue in the Maine election. The Republican candidate for Governor is a Klan candidate. The whole fight is centered on the Klan. Mr. Pattangall, the Democratic candidate, is an open avowed, unqualified opponent of the Klan. He was one of the leaders of the battle in the national Democratic convention for the repudiation of the Klan by name. Mr. Davis, the Democratic presidential candidate, has repudiated the Klan by name and denounced its purposes and practices. The anti-Klan forces of two parties are concentrated on the anti-Klan fight in Maine. Senator Wheeler, the vice-presidential candidate on the La Follette ticket, is denouncing the Klan. All the Democratic speakers and all the La Follette speakers are denouncing the Klan as a factor in politics. The Klan is definitely standing with the Republican organization in Maine, looking to it for defense. It is in alliance with the Republican party there to gain control of Maine politics and to gain control of the Republican party wherever it has strength.

No more important election in the history of American politics has taken place than that which is pending in Maine. The question whether the Klan can control and command the support of the dominant party in Maine and in the nation will be decided next Monday. The question whether the Klan can win a political victory with Republican support in Maine, and can thus win victories elsewhere and obtain a cinch on the Republican organization, will be decided in the election.

With this great moral and political issue, involving fundamental principles of right and liberty, rushing to a conclusion in a Republican State, the President, the national leader of the Republican party, is silent. Instead of confronting this issue of American rights and American liberties frankly and courageously, Mr. Coolidge shifts the burden of answering to somebody else. He lets Mr. Davis speak for him in mild and mixed utterances in which he blends excuses and criticisms of the hooded organization. He gets Mr. Siemp to write a letter in reply to a question regarding his own stand on this vital issue, in which Mr. Siemp merely states that Mr. Coolidge is not a member of the Klan and does not sympathize with its purposes.

Nobody can say that Mr. Coolidge has spoken. He is in a position to keep silent or speak as the wind blows in Maine. If the Klan wins a victory in Maine, Klan votes may be valuable in Indiana, Ohio and other states. And Mr. Coolidge will be able to garner them in. If the Klan loses, Mr. Coolidge will be in a position to repudiate it, and thus garner anti-Klan votes. The moral issue and the vital issue of principle sink into insignificance apparently in the mind of Mr. Coolidge, compared with the question of gathering votes.

Great moral and political issues do not seem to count very much with Mr. Coolidge. It took a storm to make him speak out on corruption in the administration. And a hurricane was required to drive him to action on Denby and Daugherty. He has never yet discovered the great moral issue in political corruption at Washington. He has always spoken reluctantly after the fact. He has done no driving even in the things he said he stood for, such as opposition to the bonus, support of the Mellon tax plan and support of the World Court. Let others speak and act on the issues; give me the votes, seems to be his rule of conduct.

If there is an earthquake in Maine, perhaps Mr. Coolidge may speak for himself. Nothing short of a violent disturbance seems to move his timid soul.

THE CONTENTS OF THE HELMET OF NAVARRE.

If the skull of Henry of Navarre has sold for 25 cents, it went too cheap. It was worth much more that day at Ivry when it wore the helmet with the snow-white plume. The thrills Macaulay's poem has given to schoolboys could not be priced under millions. "Now by the lips of those ye love, fair gentlemen of France, charge for the golden lilies—upon them with the lance!" are some of the words attributed to the King on that sunshiny day in March of 1590. To put a price of 5 francs on that skull is sacrilege. What price Roland's bugle on such a market? Six bits. Excelsior might bring a dollar.

Pedestrians, it is reported, get a rough deal on the streets of Moscow. Another evidence that the dictatorship is going bourgeois.

THE BLISS PEACE PLAN.

While the administration is preparing to initiate a new disarmament conference separate from the League of Nations Gen. Tasker H. Bliss and a group of Americans have come forward with an arbitration and disarmament plan supported by proposed League of Nations resolutions and depending on the instrumentality of the League for its adoption. The plan is being cordially received abroad. On the other hand European representatives are discouraging the American administration effort for a disarmament conference. One spokesman is quoted as saying that isolated conferences seem to be out of place while a permanent institution like the League exists, with experts devoting years of study to the technique and difficulties of reducing armaments.

The Bliss plan undertakes to outlaw aggressive war without either sacrificing security or invoking war to curb an outlaw nation. The aggressor in hostilities would be automatically branded by its refusal to accept arbitration or to return to a peaceful state after arbitration were requested by one of the parties to the dispute. Enforcement of arbitration decrees would be effected by economic boycott, which, in the view of Bliss, would ruin any state.

It will be interesting to note the comments of the isolationists on this plan. It is imperative to the charge of "super-sovereignty" unless the enforcement of any treaty is super-sovereignty. It would deprive the alarmists of that precious old poppycock that our boys would be drafted to fight on foreign shores at the command of foreign governments. As to credit for its origination it could be disclaimed by the administration if it failed and, like the Davies report, claimed as an accomplishment if it proved popular.

The Prince of Wales asked for a cigarette, the news account says, "naming a popular American brand." Now if the manufacturer only could be induced to reveal the name of the brand!

GIVE THEM A LABORATORY.

Two similar books, "The Logic of Conduct," by James Mackay, and "The New Decalogue of Science," by Albert Edward Wiggam, were discussed in special articles in Sunday's Post-Dispatch. One author assumes the failure of established methods of accomplishing moral ends which produce happiness. He would apply the methods of science to moral conduct as science has been applied to the physical realm, where it has produced such phenomenal results. Wiggam would save civilization by giving free rein to the scientific principles of heredity and eugenics. He would apply science to the growth of the family and to the suppression of crime and weaknesses by preventing the propagation of criminals and weaklings.

One book, by elimination, attacks the religious method of dealing with conduct. The other places science in opposition to the democratic principle of individual self-determination. The arguments reason well. In their truth or untruth, however, the very existence of civilization is at stake. Must we lean on theory alone in issues of such moment?

Physical science could not have developed without experimentation. The cradle of science is the laboratory. The principles of eugenics are pretty well established. We have yet, however, to see the eugenic state and eugenic society. A prominent local pastor quotes the English theologian, Faber, thus: "Scarcely a line of glory exists, but there runs parallel with it a line of suffering." Is that true or is it obsolete sentiment? If eugenic subjects must suffer to attain success shall they be supplied with hand-made suffering? How can we find out without trying? Let the experiments be conducted while society clings, as it inevitably will cling, to its traditional taboos. But let us not strangle science.

The mildest prescription for meeting the Klan issue consists of a denial by the political candidate that he is a member.

The best way for the city to "get even" with the U. R. is not to kick itself in the face.

PANTELA.

Yes, Luella,
This is Autumn,
Quick to exercise
Her wiles;
Looks as if
She might have worried
By the way
In which she smiles.
Anyway,
We have rejoined her
Home from Summer's
Mad carouse,
And you couldn't
Just as drowsy
About the house.

Let us take
The sun at morning;
When in this
Superb emprise
Did it ever
Rise so softly
In the cool
And misty skies?
Any lookout
From a window
Just as drowsy
About the house.

So it goes,
My little girlie;
Go forth where
Or when you will,
And the subtle
Charm of Autumn
Lays its spell
Upon you still.
Whether in
The somber beauty
Spread about you
Everywhere,
Or the stimulus
Exerted
By the cool
September air.

Wherefore,
Having drooped
Through summer
And held on
The best we could,
Autumn
As a grand revival
Does us all
A lot of good.
Save for her
Prompt intervention,
Bringing back
Our wonted zest.
We are well
Had all been buried
With an epitaph
"At Rest."

Therefore,
Having been delivered
From the hookworm
And the rest,
Let us all
Give thanks to Autumn
For our
Resurrected zest.
She, the fair one
Of the moment,
With her light,
Elastic step,
Bringing to us
Redivivus
Our too-long
Relapsed pop.

GREAT MAWS.

Mah Jong,

Sir: No one can say with absolute certainty what will influence a child. Further, we are not safe in declaring how a child will be influenced. The proverb "What is one man's meat is another man's poison" is as true of the child of tender years as it is of the man of maturity.

Thus, some time ago, a correspondent confessed that the Police Gazette was to her a "History of Art" in the days when her hair was long. From the Gazette, which was the staple of her reading, she learned in days gone by, she obtained her first ideas of art.

When I read that frank confession it at once occurred to me that prohibition is a terrible blow to art. For my first ideas of beauty were gained by gazing wide-eyed and rapturous at the picture of the stomach of a dipsomaniac in an old-time physiology. For some, that picture would have been an evil influence. Lured on by the sonorous Latin of "dipsomaniac," they might have resolved to become such "when they got big." Others, in whose breasts the spark of ambition burned not wisely but too well, would have thirsted to possess so beautiful a stomach. As for me, I gazed enthralled. Even today, I never see a field of corn but that I am reminded of how much liquor the ears would make, and of how delicately the liquor would tint the stomach of the dipsomaniac; when I behold the delicate tints of sunrise, the somber hues of a storm or the fleeting shades of evening, I am reminded of my first primer of art—the picture of the stomach of a soak.

How can children be happy nowadays, when they no longer have such pretty pictures in their schoolbooks? For when prohibition came in the picture of the stomach of a soak went out. We can endure being without the picture of our brains—Harry L. Mencken says we have none—Henry Ford has made it possible to dispense with the picture of the muscles of the leg. But, cursed spite! Prohibition has banished the picture of the stomach of a soak.

LEGAL STRUCTURE NOT IMPROVING, HADLEY ASSERTS

Washington U. Chancellor Takes Issue With Statement Recently Made by
Attorney-General Stone

DISCUSSES CRIME BEFORE MICHIGAN BAR

Conditions Due Largely to Inefficient System of Ap-
prehending and Prosecuting He Says.

Chancellor Herbert S. Hadley of Washington University spoke today before the Michigan State Bar Association on the improvement of our law. He has reached in his official experience as Attorney-General and Governor of Missouri and more recently by a thorough survey of practical questions of law enforcement. Chancellor Hadley said:

"We are the most lawless of all the civilized nations of the world, with the possible exception of Italy, where criminal statistics are not accurately collected and compiled. Conclusions as to Cause.

"While many influences and conditions here and elsewhere cause crime, the greater amount of crime in this as compared with other countries of similar civilization and culture must be assigned to our inefficient system of apprehending and prosecuting these committing criminal offenses. This is evident from the fact that the social, political and economic causes of crime are less marked and frequent in this country than in European countries."

He took issue with the new Attorney-General of the United States, Harlan F. Stone, for the statement, made by Stone in an address before the American Bar Association in Philadelphia last July, that the Attorney-General said, as quoted by Hadley: "Notwithstanding the improvement, actual and potential, in our state law, the actual administration of justice in the United States is not improving, and that there are multiplying conditions that it is in a period of decline which began before the World War and was greatly accelerated by the war."

"That decline," Stone said, "is due either to the form or substance of our legal structure, which has been steadily improving for a generation, but is to be attributed rather to our failure to develop that facility in translating legal rules into actual control of action which is essential to an adequate legal system."

Disagrees With Stone.

"I have reached a different conclusion," Chancellor Hadley said. "I have no dissent from his declaration that there has been a decline in the administration of justice, which has aroused an increasing volume of criticism both with and without the profession. But I do vigorously dissent from the statement that the 'form and substance' of our legal structure have been steadily improving for a generation, and that our failure to secure a satisfactory administration of justice is due to the faults and weaknesses of the human agents who administer it, and is not contributed to by the defects in the law itself."

He then discussed the defects of present-day criminal procedure, and the failure of the law and its machinery to keep pace with progress in other lines. This discussion followed the line of a survey made by him as chairman of a committee of the American Law Institute, and printed in the Post-Dispatch last April.

DISCUSSES CRIME
BEFORE MICHIGAN BAR

Conditions Due Largely to Inefficient System of Ap-
prehending and Prosecuting He Says.

Chancellor Herbert S. Hadley of Washington University spoke today at Lansing, Mich., before the Michigan State Bar Association on "The Improvement of Our Law." Presenting the conclusions which he has reached in his official experience as Attorney-General and Governor of Missouri and more recently by a thorough survey of practical questions of law enforcement, Chancellor Hadley said:

"We are the most lawless of all the civilized nations of the world, with the possible exception of Italy, where criminal statistics are not accurately collected and compiled. Conclusions as to Cause.

He took issue with the new Attorney-General of the United States, Harlan P. Stone, for the statement, made by Stone in an address before the American Bar Association in Philadelphia last week, that the improvement of legal structure is essential to an adequate legal system."

Disagrees With Stone.

"I have reached a different conclusion," Chancellor Hadley said. "I have no dissent from his declaration that there has been a decline in the administration of justice, which has aroused an increasing volume of criticism both within and without the profession. But I do vigorously dissent from the statement that the form and substance of our legal structure have been steadily improving for a generation, and that our failure to secure a satisfactory administration of justice is due to the faults and weaknesses of the juristic agents who administer it, and is not contributing to the defects in the law itself."

He then discussed the defects of present-day criminal procedure, the failure of the law and its machinery to keep pace with progress, the failure of the law to follow the lines of the survey made by him as chairman of a committee of the American Law Institute, and printed in the Post-Dispatch last April.

"One of the most serious phases of the failure of the legal system to measure up to the requirements of modern life," the speaker said, "is to be found in the lack of confidence that the people have in the law and its administration. This has found expression in the establishment of administrative boards and commissions as substitutes for our courts, and in the tendency of the business world to turn to arbitration as the only means of relief from the delay and ineffectiveness of adjudication."

Result of the Tendency.

"Public utility workmen's commission, and other such bodies, are the result of the failure of the legal system to measure up to the requirements of modern life," the speaker said. "The failure of the legal system to measure up to the requirements of modern life is the result of the failure of the legal system to measure up to the requirements of modern life."

THE LABOR VOTE.

From the Washington Post.

THE Central Labor Union of Wilmington, Del., has refused to accept the dictation of the American Federation of Labor leaders as to endorsement of the La Follette-Wheeler ticket. "There you are," American labor leaders may undertake to deliver the labor vote, but the rank and file refuse to be delivered. The unwillingness of the American worker to be a pawn in the political game is the secret of his real progress. In the past he has thought for himself politically, and evidently he is not disposed to forego that privilege now.

PRINCE SPENDS THIRD STRAIGHT NIGHT OUT

Tumbles Into Bed at 5 A. M.
But Is Up at Noon and Takes Few Turns at Polo.

By the Associated Press.

SPÖSBET, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The Prince of Wales spent another night out last night—his third in a row. He returned to his holiday home at the James A. Burden estate shortly after 5 o'clock this morning and tumbled into a bed which he did not leave until noon.

That his rest might be unbroken State troopers stationed at the Burden gates requested all motorists entering the grounds to use a back drive. When the Prince awoke, he took a few turns at polo, putting in a few extra hard hits to make up for the exercise he had taken yesterday.

Leaving the Piping Rock Country Club at about midnight, the royal visitor went with his cousin, Lord Louis Mountbatten, and Lady Mountbatten, to the home of J. S. Corden at Sands Point, where a jolly and small house party kept the fun going until daylight. Then the Prince went home.

Invitations Declined.

Capt. A. F. Lascelles of the Prince's party said the Prince had declined an invitation to participate in the reception to the American globe-trotting flyers at Mitchell Field Sunday. He would not attend, he told Chairman F. Trubee Davidson of the Citizens' Committee in charge of the reception, because he considered the occasion as being of a sentimental kind, which he has rigidly excluded from his holiday visit.

Nor will the Prince accept an invitation of a group of English actors now in New York to see a special benefit performance for the Mayor's milk fund on Sunday. Capt. Lascelles said the Prince had refused many invitations to theatrical performances and added that it was extremely improbable that he would visit New York City at all.

SENATOR REED'S CONDITION SHOWS MARKED IMPROVEMENT

Is Able to Get Around on Crutches,
After Being Bedridden
for Weeks.

By the Associated Press.

There has been pronounced improvement in the condition of Senator James A. Reed. The cast has been removed from his right knee. The Senator now is able to place his right foot on the floor, but still needs the aid of crutches in getting around.

Senator Reed became ill at his apartments in the Hotel Muehlebach last June with what was diagnosed as an attack of laryngitis. His physician, Dr. Allen Porter, announced that the Senator would be unable to go to the Democratic national convention at New York. He declared that he would go despite the doctor's orders, but when the time came he was bedfast.

Later Senator Reed suffered a relapse and a swelling developed in his knee, one so bad that a cast was placed around it. For two weeks no visitors were allowed to see him. His illness was described as a streptococcal infection of the throat which caused rheumatic conditions in the wrists and legs.

REORGANIZATION BODY OF U. R. TO MEET TOMORROW

Definite Plan Will Be Presented for Discussion at Conference in New York.

NEWMAN HOPEFUL ABOUT SITUATION

Motorbus Question Will Be Taken Up as Matter to Be Reckoned Up in Any Proposal.

The Reorganization Committee of the United Railways will meet tomorrow in New York to discuss a definite plan for reorganization of the properties prepared by J. K. Newman, of Newman, Saunders & Co. Local members of the committee, who have gone to New York, said they were informed by Newman that he has a plan he believes will be acceptable to the financial interests and the people of St. Louis.

Although the action of the St. Louis Board of Public Service in granting permits to the People's Motorbus Co. for routes over 42 additional miles of streets is regarded by some members of the Reorganization Committee as a complicating matter, Newman is said to hold the view that it is not an insurmountable object and believes a satisfactory arrangement in this connection can be effected.

Motorbus Question Up.
The motorbus question will come up for discussion at the meeting in New York tomorrow as a matter to be reckoned with in any plan of reorganization. It will be the first time the committee has had a chance to get together on the action of the Board of Public Service.

It will be remembered that Newman has had conferences with John Hertz, Chicago motorbus magnate, who has a substantial interest in the People's Company, with a view to purchasing the motorbus properties for the United Railways. These negotiations appear to have come to naught, because the motorbus people are said to have demanded $2,400,000, which is considerably more than the capital invested.

It now appears the United Railways will have to find another way around the situation and may go to the State Public Service Commission with a petition to increase fares to make up for the heavy losses being suffered because of bus competition.

Receipts Decrease.
Manager Perkins yesterday announced that the company's receipts have fallen off $325,000 the first eight months of this year, as compared with the same period last year, which he attributes largely to bus competition.

Receiver Wells has been in California and Hawaii on his vacation, but is expected to return within a few weeks.

In a formal statement on the action of the Board of Public Service in granting additional permits to the People's company and ignoring the petition of the St. Louis Motorbus Co., a subsidiary of the United Railways, Stanley Clarke, counsel for the reorganization committee, said in part:

"We believe that the action of the three members of the Board of Public Service and in the absence of the president of the board and the president of Public Utilities in granting permits to the People's Motorbus Co. is a severe blow to the transportation system of St. Louis. All but a very small portion of these routes directly cover or parallel service now furnished by the street railways. With the intention of giving St. Louis a comprehensive bus system, extending into territories not now served by the street railways, the reorganizers endeavored to purchase the People's Motorbus Co., not in order to take it off, but in order to use the service established by that company in part to carry out its plan to coordinate railway and bus service.

Failure of Negotiations.
"Failing to purchase the People's Motorbus Co., because the price demanded was so largely in excess of the capital invested and because the city authorities stated openly that they would not approve the payment of so large a purchase price, the Reorganization Committee organized the St. Louis Bus Co. under the direction of the Mayor and the Consulting City Engineer. The reorganizers took this action in good faith and as they publicly stated as a first step toward the elimination of competition which has no place in service by public utilities on a service at cost basis.

"We wish further to state that statements which have made as to the results which will follow superimposing of additional competing bus lines, to wit, that in all probability the fare will be raised and the railways will necessarily have to discontinue some service and that the reorganization will be delayed, were not threats but simple statements of what we believe must necessarily follow from the loss of revenue to the United Railways occasioned by bus competition.

USE CANTHROX Shampoo

Today's Beauty Help

If you are one of the many who try to make the most of your hair, remember that it is not advisable to wash the hair with any cleanser made for all purposes, but always use some good shampoo. You can enjoy the very best by getting some Canthrox from your drugist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which inspires hair growth.—Advertisement.

WOMAN BADLY HURT IN CRASH OF AUTOS

Driver of Other Machine Flees
After Injury of Mrs. Anna
Fitzgerald.

Mrs. Anna Fitzgerald, 55 years old, a widow, of 1323 Goodfellow avenue, suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries about 10 o'clock last night when an automobile in which she was riding with her son, Maurice, 30, was struck by another machine on Kingshighway, near Audubon avenue. She was carried into Barnes Hospital nearby where it was said today her condition was critical.

The driver of the other machine leaped from the car and fled. Police, tracing the license on the automobile, learned it had been issued to a man giving a fictitious address on Delmar boulevard. They are searching for him.

Maurice Fitzgerald was cut and bruised in the accident.

Three Persons Hurt When Truck and Auto Collide.

Three persons were injured at 6:15 p. m. when a truck belonging to Monsignor Timothy Dempsey, for work in St. Patrick's Parish, and driven by John Reno, 1413 North Twenty-second street, collided with an automobile at Elliot avenue and Dayton street. Those injured, all occupants of the automobile, were Mrs. Dora Richardson, 30, of 2409 Elliot avenue, fractured skull; her husband, James, 31, cuts and bruises, and Miss Lulu Laswell, 25, of 2407A Elliot avenue, possible fracture of the right hip. Reno blamed faulty brakes for the accident.

A fractured skull was suffered by James S. Early at 9:45 p. m. when his automobile collided with a machine parked in front of 4342 McPherson avenue.

Guy Felts, 19, of 3767 Penrose street, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg when his motorcycle collided with an automobile making a left-hand turn at Elliot and St. Louis avenues. Lena Sughero, 10, of 1449 Cass avenue, suffered scalp wounds, a broken right wrist and a possible skull fracture, when she was struck at Blair avenue and Fifteenth street by an automobile driven by Roscoe Fanning of 2523 Park avenue. Fanning said the girl ran from behind a street car into the path of his machine.

AGED SURVIVORS OF 'TWO LAST MEN'S CLUB' TO MEET TODAY

Banquet at Stillwater, Minn. With Bottle of Wine Given in 1905 in Center of Table.

By the Associated Press. STILLWATER, Minn., Sept. 4.—Memories of Civil War days will be recalled and happenings in the "good old days" recounted when three old men, the only surviving members of the "Two Last Men's Club," sat at banquet at the home of one of the members on the outskirts of Stillwater today.

The "Two Last Men's Club," which is similar in nature to that of the "Last Men's Club," was organized in 1905 from members of Company C, Eighth Minnesota Volunteers. The Last Men's Club was organized from Company B, First Minnesota Infantry, of the Civil War.

The aged survivors who will attend today's banquet, held on Sept. 4 each year, are Horace Voligny of Stillwater, 87 years old; John Blake, Mellon, Wis., 82, and Jacob Secret of Minneapolis, 82.

Occupying the center of the table will be a bottle of wine which was presented to the club in 1905 by Voligny, the oldest survivor. The last two gray-haired men will drink from the bottle as a toast to the departed ones.

GIRLS! USE LEMON TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quartet of the most wonderful skin whiteners, softer and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable bleach yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Big earnings in August

High speed when others slow down

I GOT the idea the year I was married—I needed the money. The time to make work count double is when other men are loafing.

It is just as easy to work hard in August as in October—if you will follow my method of keeping on my toes in hot weather.

My speed-up Lifebuoy bath

Soups your body in hot water. Cover with a foamy mass of creamy, gently antiseptic Lifebuoy lather from hair to toes. Rub in the lather until you can feel it penetrating deep down into your pores. Then rinse with cold water and dry with a coarse towel.

Pores are open, breathing, freeing the body of poisons—and stay that way all day. That is why you feel cool, comfortable and vigorous, regardless of the heat.

Other soaps I've used clean the surface—Lifebuoy gets underneath. It's the greatest soap I ever used.

During the day I bathe hands, wrists and face with Lifebuoy as often as possible, both because it's a cooling tonic and to remove the germs which moist hands pick up from everything others touch.

Try Lifebuoy—there's kick in it.

When people greet you with a smile, and bright eyes flash your way, and your work goes with a snap and life is all opportunity—that is health...Lifebuoy is the Health Soap.

The Health Doctor

Orange-red Lifebuoy is the color of pure palm fruit oil. You'll like its clean, quickly vanishing odor because you like cleanness.

PERJURY IN BEHALF OF GOV. SMALL CHARGED
Assistant Attorney-General Makes Accusation Against County Crop Expert.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 4.—A charge of committing "rank perjury" on behalf of Gov. Small was made against John S. Collier, crop expert of Kankakee County, by Assistant Attorney-General Board. When the final hearing in "civil suits" before the Master in Chancery was opened here today. The Attorney-General's staff introduced Albert Hagenow, a farmer living near Grant Park, as a witness to impeach the testimony given at the last hearing by Collier. When questioned by Assistant Attorney-General Hadley, Hagenow testified that he did not know Collier and had never told him, as stated by Collier, that he had $2000 on deposit in the Grant Park Bank. Testimony to that effect had been given by Collier, Hadley said, in an attempt to indicate that the Grant Park Bank was a bona fide institution.

Hagenow added that he had no knowledge of the Grant Park Bank until it was brought into light by litigation. His dealings, he said, were with the Grant Park Trust and Savings Bank.

Checks which Collier had offered in evidence bearing the words "Curtis Bank" were reintroduced, several of them bearing Hagenow's signature, made out to Collier as head of the Kankakee County Soil and Crop Improvement Association. It was explained by Hagenow that the words "Curtis Bank" were in common use in his community, to indicate the Grant Park Trust and Savings Bank.

This was directly contrary to the testimony of Collier several weeks ago, who said he returned the circuit to Hagenow in person and asked him what he meant by "Curtis Bank." Hagenow answered, according to Collier's testimony, that he wrote it that way to indicate clearly that he meant Curtis private bank, the "Grant Park Bank" and not the "Grant Park Trust and Savings Bank," of which Curtis is also an officer.

Hagenow today denied that he had ever been approached regarding his checks, and that he did not know Collier and had never met him.

The suits were brought against Gov. Small to recover about $1,000,000 in interest on State deposits which he is alleged to have withheld when he was State Treasurer. Gov. Small was acquitted on criminal charges growing out of the transaction.

BROTHER OF M'ADDOO IS TREASURER FOR LA FOLLETTE
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—William G. McAdoo's brother, Malcolm, has become an official member of the La Follette-Wheeler forces. His appointment as treasurer of the State Committee was announced today by the La Follette-Wheeler headquarters.

"I am heartily glad to align myself with a genuine progressive movement in American politics, and to do my part in carrying it over," Malcolm McAdoo said. "Some of the enemies of this movement try to frighten timid supporters by calling it 'radical.' The leaders and candidates of this movement are no more radical than the signers of the Declaration of Independence, two of whom became president of the United States, and one of whom was Benjamin Franklin."

"Senators La Follette and Wheeler are no more radical than were Washington and Lincoln and the armies behind them."

He denied that he was "bolting" the Democratic party because of his brother's defeat for the presidential nomination.

WED JUNE 13; LANDS IN JAIL
Detroit Man Held in Mysterious Slaying Case.
By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Sept. 4.—Thirteen mirrors were broken the afternoon of Friday, June 13, last, at the marriage of Thomas Boyce, 20 years old, to Miss Louise Quinn, 23, in cell No. 12 of the gloomy hold of the Australian convict ship, then anchored in the Detroit River. In further defiance of superstition, the ceremony was witnessed by 13 persons.

Boyce today is held by police in connection with the death Sunday night of Clyde Keller, 45, who was found with his head crushed in a moving van at the rear of an apartment house in which lived Mrs. Irene Bellanger, 30, divorcee and mother of two small children, who is also in custody. Mrs. Frances Rice, a friend of Mrs. Bellanger, has been arrested for questioning. Boyce, Mrs. Bellanger and Mrs. Rice told police that Keller was with them in the Bellanger apartment Sunday night, that there had been some drinking and that Keller fell. He was last seen, they say, limping toward the moving van. They said they knew nothing about the hammer found beside Keller's body.

La Coste Wins From Patterson In Straight Sets

French Davis Cup Team Gains Advantage Over Australians.

The young Frenchman, playing brilliant tennis all the way, won in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 10-8.

Games went with service to all in the second set, but La Coste's superb backhand and greater all-around steadiness, coupled with an instant attack on Patterson's backhand, enabled the Frenchman to reel off the next four games, to win the set at 6-2. To win the opening sets, 6-3, 6-2, La Coste required only 30 minutes.

CUBS GIVE HOLLOCHER PERMISSION TO LEAVE CLUB TO RETURN HOME

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 4.—Charles Hollocher, club shortstop, was telegraphed permission today, by the Chicago National League office, to return to his home in St. Louis.

The local office was careful to announce that it was not another case of so-called desertion, such as occurred last season and which resulted in the player and the club experiencing some difficulty.

For several weeks Hollocher has been unable to play, and has been losing weight steadily. It is understood that after missing St. Louis he will go to the southwest for treatment.

"POP" GEERS, 53 YEARS A DRIVER, KILLED IN RACE,

Horse He Was Driving at West Virginia State Fair
Stumbled, Throwing Veteran Turfman to Track.

LEFT FORTUNE
EARNED IN RACES

Known as "Grand Old Man of Turf" He Had Taken
Single Team and Triplicate Records.

By the Associated Press.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 4.—Edward F. (Pop) Geers of Memphis, Tenn., dean of American harness drivers and known for many years as the "grand old man of the trotting turf," died "in the harness" yesterday. The veteran horseman was fatally injured when his mare, Miladi Guy, stumbled and fell during the first harness race at the West Virginia fair. He was 53 years old.

Dislodged from the overturned sulky, Geers was thrown more than 15 feet ahead of the horse and suffered injuries which caused his death three hours later in the Ohio Valley Hospital. Death was attributed to shock and internal injuries.

Yesterday had been set aside as "Geers Day" at the fair and a great crowd had turned out to honor the man who for 50 years had been making history on the American trotting turf.

The first heat of the 2:14 trot ended by Geers taking third place. In the next heat, while he was attempting to pass Santa the Great, which was leading the field, Miladi Guy stumbled.

A shudder went through the crowd as driver, horse and sulky went down. Other horses in the race were swung wide of the fallen horse and driver by inches as they thundered past. Geers was made unconscious by the fall and was placed upon a stretcher and rushed to the hospital. He did not regain consciousness, and died with his nephew, Robert Neal, of Memphis, and two lifetime friends, Lyle

Scaffer and Rodderick Patterson, noted horsemen, at his bedside. When Miladi Guy stumbled her head went between her forelegs, the mare almost turning a somersault as she fell. The sulky, lifted high as the harness held, was twisted sideways before it crashed to the track. Geers was thrown in the air to fall with terrific force ahead of the horse and lay motionless as the other horses flashed by.

Santa the Great had repeated his first heat victory as race officials and two physicians reached the injured driver. After being taken to the hospital Geers grew steadily weaker until death ended his career three hours later.

The funeral of Geers will be held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wallace Cunningham, in Memphis, Friday. Burial will be at Columbia, Tenn.

Famed for Development of Champions.

Edward F. Geers, for many years was known as the "Grand Old Man of the Trotting Turf." To all patrons of the Grand Circuit he was "Pop" Geers—loved and honored by all as the premier reinsman of the light harness world.

In addition to his skill as a driver, Geers was noted for his success in developing champions. In all-round horsemanship the scope of his accomplishments was unparalleled. Not only did he take several world single-harness records, both trotting and pacing, but he also took the team records in both classes and held the world's triplicate team record, won in one of the most spectacular events ever seen on a race track.

This latter achievement was made in 1922, when he drove Belle Hamlin, Justina and Globe, hitched three abreast, a mile in 2:14 to a high four-wheeled skeleton wagon.

To Geers also belonged the two and three-mile championships, held respectively by Harvester and Nightingale.

"The Silent Tennesseean," as Geers was called, was noted for his self-control and slowness to anger, on the track as well as in the stable. Not a half-dozen times in more than 50 years of race driving was he known to go into the stands to complain of an adversary for foul driving or unsportsmanlike tactics, and never was he known to attempt to repay any such tactics in kind.

Geers was born January 25, 1883, near Lebanon, Wilson County, Tenn. His passion for horses manifested itself early, and while a young boy he became the owner of a fast colt. At the age of 20 he was training several horses and had won his first race at Lebanon with a little Morgan stallion called Little Dave; time 3:04, to a skeleton wagon. This horse belonged to a Tennessee preacher, who hired Geers to drive for him.

In 1873 Geers moved to Nashville, and two years later opened a public stable there. He soon attracted the attention of Major Campbell Brown, who had a farm at Springfield, Tenn. Brown sent him a few horses and from them Geers developed Brown Hal, the prophet of the famous Hal family.

For the next 12 years Geers made his headquarters at Columbia, and the Almont filly, Alice West, was one of the first horses he trained there. In 1877 he made a trip north with her and won at Cincinnati and again at Fleetwood Park, New York. He also appeared at Hartford, where he won with the same filly in 2:29 1/4 over Hogarth.

His first champion, Mattie Hunter, 2:12 1/4, was brought out in 1878, and the following year she was made the pacing queen of the American turf. Geers won his first Grand Circuit race in 1881 with Annie W., a notable trotter. After Mattie Hunter was sold, Geers dropped from sight for a time, but in 1889 he appeared at Cleveland with Brown Hal and Hal Pointer. 1891 Harry Hamlin, an influential turfman, purchased the latter and a number of the famous Village Farm horses were placed in Geers' stable. The results were so satisfactory that Hamlin made a contract with the trainer to move his headquarters to Buffalo.

For the Village Farm he raced the Abbot, which he drove to a world record of 2:03 1/4; and Robert J. Nightingale, Fantasy, Regent, The Monk, Heir-at-Law, Lady of the Manor, and Lord Derby.

Upon his return to Tennessee, Geers brought out and raced Walter Direct, Anvil, Duane Archdale, Ardelle, The Harvester, Napoleon Direct, Billy Buck, Peter Jane, St. Frisco and Etawah. While following the Grand Circuit, Geers won on the Chamber of Commerce and the M. & M. at Detroit five times; at Hartford he won the Charter Oak Purse with Nightingale, Billy Buck, The Harvester, and St. Frisco; at Lexington he won five of the Walnut Hill Cups, the Transylvania twice and the Kentucky Futurity with the Harvester and Etawah.

It was not until his 65th year, however, that Geers won the coveted honor of driving a mile in two minutes or better. In a free-for-all race at the Columbia, (O.) Grand Circuit meeting on August

CUSTOMS FINE FOR TWO WOMEN Six Charged With Trying to Smuggle in Paris Lingerie.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Charged with attempting to smuggle Paris gowns and lingerie into the country when they arrived on the Berengaria last Friday, two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Sallie M. Livingston of Kankakee, Ill., and Mrs. Lewis Sands, wife of the president of the Sands Manufacturing Co., Cleveland, were fined a total of $4897 at a hearing before Edward Barnes, Assistant Solicitor, at the custom house yesterday.

Deputy Surveyor James F. Long, who seized the property of the women, told Collector of the Port Elting, who was present, that Mrs. Livingston had informed him that she had smuggled goods in before because she had "a friend at court." Mrs. Livingston denied making the assertion. She paid a fine of $3914 while Mrs. Sands was fined $983.

Many good doctors endorse Epps' Gas Tablets as a safe and most effective treatment for the relief or prevention of gas. Originated by an eminent Homeopathic physician and used with great success for years. Sold in St. Louis by Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., or any other first-class drug store. Price $1. Ask for "Epps," the only genuine Gas Tablets. Bockert & Runyon Co., Mfrs., San Francisco.

Spells of choking and gasping often result from gas in the stomach pressing against the heart and interfering with the action of that organ. Such an attack may be accompanied by extreme nervousness, anxiety, sharp pains about the heart, palpitation, dizziness, nausea or other ill effects.

Prompt relief from all discomfort due to gas can usually be obtained by taking Epps' Gas Tablets before and after meals. These pleasant little tablets aid digestion and are wonderfully soothing to a nervous, upset stomach. Absolutely free from harmful drugs.

Lower prices with moderately active business were the rule in the principal financial market. In stocks there was a sagging tendency during the early trading, which was accentuated during the afternoon.

Foreign Exchanges Easier. Along with the increased foreign buying of agricultural products in this country has come an increase in cotton and grain bills in the foreign exchange market. Their volume today was heavier than usual, particularly British, French, Dutch and Italian bills. Seasonal factors for the time being, at least, apparently have supplanted reparations developments as influences on the European currencies. Starting off 2 cents but recovered 1 cent to the loss at $4.66. French franc at one time were 1/4 points lower and at $2.25 showed a net loss of 1/2 points. Italian lire were 1/2 points lower, but Belgian francs declined only one point, being supported by the recent loan. Canadian dollars continued to command a small premium, while the Far Eastern exchanges were demoralized by the trouble in China.

Never Resorted to Tricks. It has been said that Geers never was disciplined or accused of unsportsmanlike conduct. He resorted to no shady tricks nor connived at secret advantages in entering his horses. He did no foul driving, even against those who sometimes used unfair methods to beat him.

He was not a spectacular figure in the sulky. Wearing a black jacket and cap, he sat rather low, leaning forward more in later days than he did in the high-wheel sulky days.

Geers was a teetotaler, but his weakness was cigars and ice cream. It would be hard to say how many cigars he smoked during the long training season. He rode daily between 50 and 70 miles and two dozen cigars would not have been over the limit. The ice cream came in the evening and there was about the only time Pop talked much. His worst offense in the way of an expletive was "Doggone."

Geers died a rich man, his winnings on the turf amounting to a fortune of more than a million dollars. His home was a show place of Memphis.

Geers was noted at Memphis for his philanthropy. His friends are authority for the statement that he spent a good portion of his earnings in helping others, donating to various charities and providing for destitute families. In many instances the beneficiaries of his generosity did not know the name of their benefactor.

Great Distress Caused by Gas

Spells of choking and gasping often result from gas in the stomach pressing against the heart and interfering with the action of that organ. Such an attack may be accompanied by extreme nervousness, anxiety, sharp pains about the heart, palpitation, dizziness, nausea or other ill effects.

Prompt relief from all discomfort due to gas can usually be obtained by taking Epps' Gas Tablets before and after meals. These pleasant little tablets aid digestion and are wonderfully soothing to a nervous, upset stomach. Absolutely free from harmful drugs.

Many good doctors endorse Epps' Gas Tablets as a safe and most effective treatment for the relief or prevention of gas. Originated by an eminent Homeopathic physician and used with great success for years. Sold in St. Louis by Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., or any other first-class drug store. Price $1. Ask for "Epps," the only genuine Gas Tablets. Bockert & Runyon Co., Mfrs., San Francisco.

Lower prices with moderately active business were the rule in the principal financial market. In stocks there was a sagging tendency during the early trading, which was accentuated during the afternoon.

Foreign Exchanges Easier. Along with the increased foreign buying of agricultural products in this country has come an increase in cotton and grain bills in the foreign exchange market. Their volume today was heavier than usual, particularly British, French, Dutch and Italian bills. Seasonal factors for the time being, at least, apparently have supplanted reparations developments as influences on the European currencies. Starting off 2 cents but recovered 1 cent to the loss at $4.66. French franc at one time were 1/4 points lower and at $2.25 showed a net loss of 1/2 points. Italian lire were 1/2 points lower, but Belgian francs declined only one point, being supported by the recent loan. Canadian dollars continued to command a small premium, while the Far Eastern exchanges were demoralized by the trouble in China.

Never Resorted to Tricks. It has been said that Geers never was disciplined or accused of unsportsmanlike conduct. He resorted to no shady tricks nor connived at secret advantages in entering his horses. He did no foul driving, even against those who sometimes used unfair methods to beat him.

He was not a spectacular figure in the sulky. Wearing a black jacket and cap, he sat rather low, leaning forward more in later days than he did in the high-wheel sulky days.

PAUL'S BODIES BOTH STILL BUSY PUSHING LEONISM

Astral and Physical Presences of "Doctor" Fined Here, Now Operating in New Orleans.

"Dr." Paul de Monte Leone, whose earthly and astral bodies spent some time in St. Louis until last October, when he was fined $100 for practicing medicine without a license, has settled down in New Orleans, where his respective bodies seem to have merged to form the Leonie Psychology Institute, whose slogan is, "There is a Gold Mine in Your Mind."

The "doctor," as he elects to be called, has not desisted of converting St. Louisans to his Leonie ways. His business manager—presumably a real "go-getter" of the type for which the "doctor" looked in St. Louis—has forwarded to the Post-Dispatch a statement of the "great humanitarian work" now being performed by Leone, because "we wish to reach the people in your section who need our help."

Both Bodies Busy. He whose "Leonism" languished here, after the incident of the $100 fine, apparently has enough patients, or clients, in New Orleans, to keep both of his bodies busy. Besides daily consultations, and classes, there are lessons by mail on psychology and psycho-analysis. "The Leonie Psychology Institute of New Orleans," recently founded by Dr. Paul de Monte Leone, psychologist of Paris, France, is the first institution of its kind in the United States," the statement reads. "The most advanced scientific, psychological methods are used to bring to normal, children and adults who are mentally subnormal or abnormal. Dr. Paul de Monte Leone has devoted his life to scientific study and research, and is now bending his energies toward making possible the enjoyment of life by those who are now unable to do so."

The writer then adds: "Any medical attention required is given through the co-operation of medical specialists." After extolling the Institute's children's department, which claims a three-story building surrounded by playgrounds, it is revealed that the Institute "ministers also to the mental needs of adults; helping misfits and failures to find their right places in life." Nervousness, habits, stammering, self-consciousness, fears and mental peculiarities are some of the things which Leonism conquers, according to the statement.

"Results" by Mail. It is admitted that "the results being obtained are very gratifying, and are big steps in the progress for the betterment of mankind." Those wishing to get similar "results" by mail are invited to write to 1321 First street. Leone was arrested at Hotel Claridge last July, after treating two policemen, telling them to forget their illness, and accepting a marked $5 bill. He was allowed to plead guilty and was fined $100. He was "let off" on payment of costs when he promised to repay a balance of $200 out of $500 which a young woman invested in his enterprises. After his arrest, police were under the impression he was a prisoner at police headquarters. However, the "doctor" assured them that only his physical body was in jail, his astral body being in Alaska.

PRANK OF BOYS LED TO FEAR OF TRAIN ROBBERY

By the Associated Press. MEADE, Kan., Sept. 4.—While routing three Mexican laborers from the blinds of the Golden State Limited of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad here Tuesday night, Meade County authorities believed they frightened away an automobile load of highwaymen, who were hiding near the depot, preparing to hold up the train. County Attorney C. C. Wilson said today.

Acting on a tip from Ralph Judkins, special agent for the Rock Island at Pratt, saying that an attempt would be made to rob the train at Meade, officers awaited the train's arrival. When the train stopped, three Mexicans were discovered riding at the rear of the engine. Believing them to be the highwaymen, officers opened fire.

While the shooting was taking place, Wilson said, witnesses saw a large motor car filled with men speed away from a spot a few hundred feet ahead of the engine. "These men evidently were the ones who had planned the holdup," Wilson declared.

The three Mexicans were given a rigid examination by county officers this afternoon, but all denied having any knowledge of the affair. During the shooting L. V. Keener, a Deputy Sheriff, and Roy Lewis, a mail carrier, were wounded. Asked if they could have been shot by the fire of fellow officers by mistake, Wilson said: "They may have been, but I doubt it."

Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific train Monday night, nearly 400 miles away, according to information coming from Rossville, Kan., where the note was found. Neil Owens, 15 years old, and George Horne, 18, son of a minister, admitted writing the note.

Kellogg's Bran delights father by bringing health to children

Poor little kids—they needed bran badly. But they wouldn't eat ordinary bran. They didn't like them. Most folks don't. Then their father tried Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed. What a difference! He tells the story in his letter:

"Dear Sir: I wish to express my appreciation of your krumbed bran, which I have used for my children this summer. We had a great deal of trouble with them through constipation, and bran had been the most satisfactory remedy but they could not be induced to take the old varieties. . . because they disliked them so. They enjoy the krumbed bran and consider it an essential ingredient of their porridge. No one whose children have not been troubled in this way can appreciate the relief there is in having their bowels move regularly."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It should not be neglected. But do not try halfway measures in seeking relief. Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. And it takes ALL bran to be 100% effective. Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, if eaten regularly, in the most chronic cases. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. The flavor is delicious. Sprinkle it on other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes on every package. It will bring you health. Begin eating it to-day. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

HOPES FOR UNION

Boris A. Bakhmetieff, former Russian Ambassador to Washington, presiding at the Russian round table at the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., said he hoped the future would link America, England and Russia in a belt of well-meaning democracies.

U. S. TO BUILD GATE TO MEXICO

Because Americans caught in Mexico after the new 9 o'clock curfew have gotten the habit of climbing over this chain which is supposed to keep them from entering, the Government is planning to build a substantial non-climbable gate at the international boundaries along the Southern border. The boundary pictured above is that of Tijuana.

HERRIOT PLEDGES FRANCE TO PLAN OF ARBITRATION FOR WORLD PEACE

Asks for Protection of Smaller Countries "With Justice and Force," in Stirring Speech.

"LEAGUE COVENANT GUIDES FRANCE"

Names "Arbitration, Security and Disarmament" as
Trinity to End Conflict—
Is Acclaimed by Assembly

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Sept. 5.—France today pledged her adherence to the principle of arbitration and through the lips of Premier Herriot gave to the world a message generally acclaimed here as replete with hope for world peace.
In an address to the Assembly of the League of Nations, which was frequently interrupted with handclapping, M. Herriot declared that France would follow in both letter and spirit the solemn document known as the Covenant of the League of Nations, which forms the first part of the treaty of Versailles, and approved in principle in advance any plan labeling as an aggressor any country which refuses arbitration.
The French Premier mounted the tribune in front of the jammed auditorium amid a burst of interest and before beginning his address received a great ovation.
Herriot began by saying that he brought the word of France to the assembly, and that word was Peace.
Warns Against Trap.
He hoped that the United States would not refuse to continue its useful collaboration in disarmament, especially "as arbitration is the keystone of our plan."
He urged the League commission immediately to study this question of arbitration upon the successful experience of which, he believed, the tranquility of the world's peoples depended.
"But arbitration must not be a trap for nations of good faith," he added.
The Premier pleaded for some system of protection for small countries, emphasizing that the great Powers could always protect themselves. Referring to Germany, he said:
"We never desired the misery of the German people. France does not live on hate."
The applause was renewed when Herriot continued that Germany, if she desired admittance to the league, should have the same treatment as other nations seeking admission. France adhered to the League covenant, but wanted to make it a living covenant.
"Protect Small Nations."
The French Premier emphasized that the basis of the present movement to disarm the nations of the world was Article 18 of the covenant of the league, which provides that armaments shall be reduced to a point compatible with national security.
Herriot declared that France founded her policies on the treaty of Versailles, which, he said, furnished a basis of security, justice and law. He cited the resolution adopted by the third assembly of the league, which, in harmony with the League covenant, gave birth to a concrete movement for the reduction of armaments. He insisted upon the importance of the fact that 18 Powers, in expressing their views on the proposed pact of mutual assistance, accepted the principle of assistance whether or not they agreed with the pact as a whole.
Great cheers were given when the French Premier declared that it was France herself who had proposed the arbitration Covenant of the League of Nations for a resolution settlement. He hoped, he said, that one of the results of this third assembly would be the intervention in the program for disarmament of a provision that a future agreement will be a country that refuses arbitration.
His plan for some plan for protecting the smaller countries,
Herriot said, justice and force went on hand in hand, but that justice should come without the sword. He declared France had no armaments that could be used against any other nation. He agreed that France must disarm, but he agreed that disarmament must be a disarmament of all nations, and that when one has said to

The Man on the Sandbox

THE CANDIDATE.
"BRING forth the trusty garden rake,"
The faithful scythe and hoe;
The buckboard and the horse with which
I traveled to and fro
"Bring forth a pair of overalls
And in 'em put a patch;
An old delapidated straw
The farmer's vote to catch.
"The red bandana for my neck
In which I filled the soil.
Then let the press prepare to spread
The old bandana oil."
"Then summon the photographer
To photograph my 'props'
And snap me in the very act
Of husbanding the crops."

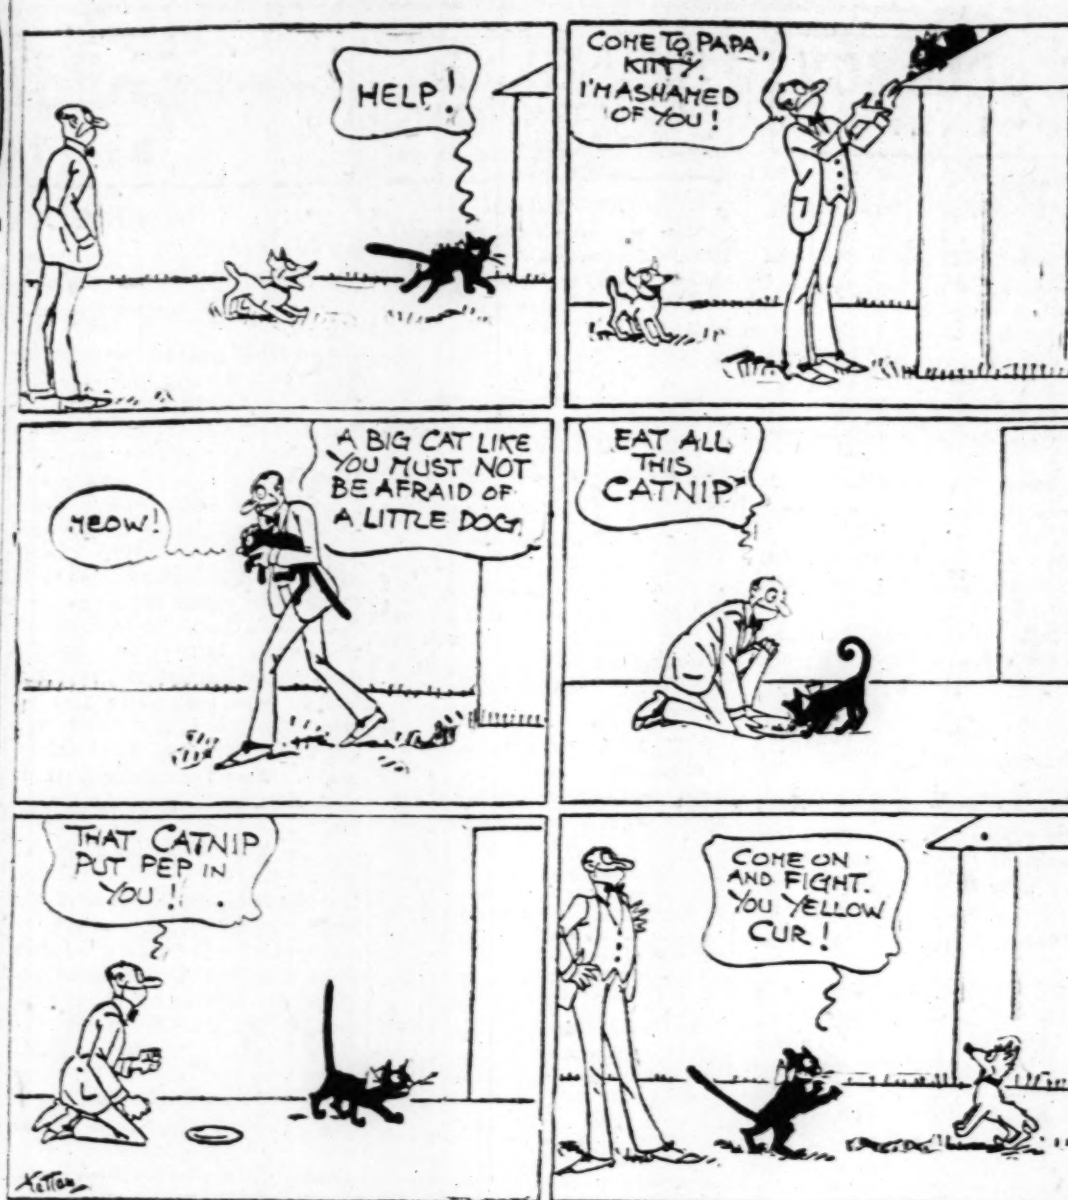

WHY NOT.
We are beginning to suspect that Uncle Wilbert is harboring a few pennant hopes in his own breast.
If the Dodgers had one more Dazzy Vance they would simply laugh in.
A victory by Washington would put a feather in the cap of the administration. The fact that no pennant had ever been won under a Democratic administration would make a strong talking point.
A world's series in Washington ought to be a good boost for the League of Nations.
People would flock to Washington from all over the country to see a flock of Senators in knee pants.
The Unions have wisely abandoned the Labor day parade.
Walking five or six miles in the hot sun adds nothing to the gaiety of nations.
A morning and afternoon game has also taken the place of the customary double-header. Another step in the right direction.
"League of Nations Starts Machinery for Reducing Arms."
Uncle Sam's daily dozen will be directed at the tummy.
"Says Coffee Is Basis of Restaurant Success."
And we always thought it was the orchestra!
Some hotels seem to think that furnishing $40 worth of tools to eat 40 cents worth of food priced at $1.50 is the acme of service and satisfaction.

HOW COME?
Five of our Aldermen have gone on a tour of the Eastern cities to inspect the subway. What's the matter with the rest of the boys?
Unjust discrimination, we call it.
Moreover, all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, as the feller says. Especially when Jack isn't spending his own jack.
What the State of Illinois needs is a standing army and keep it standing in Williamson County.
Just by way of showing Mr. Mc-Graw the exact point where friendship ceases, Uncle Wilbert Robinson didn't do a thing but trim the Giants three straight games at a time they could ill afford to lose them.
